JUDGES' CHOICE IS JOHN A. BELL

Well-Known Banker Appointed by Court for County Commissionership Vacancy.

HIS SELECTION A SURPRISE

John A. Bell was yesterday appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of County Commissioner J. Carson Mercer. Mr. Bell declined last night to discuss his intentions. While he had been mentioned for the position, the appointment was a general surprise.

The nine common pleas court judges made the appointment after being in session for about one hour. The length of the meeting caused many to believe that they were also disposing of the appointments on the new board of tax assessment and revision. At the conclusion of the conference, it was announced Mr. Bell had been selected for commissioner. While some consideration was given the tax board no decision was reached, and the matter will probably be disposed of later in the week.

No information was given out as to how the vote stood on the other men mentioned for commissioner. The men who were known to be candidates were I. K. Campbell, W. J. Zahniser, W. W. Murray, Harry T. Rowley, A. C. Gumbert and P. W. Siebert. Mr. Bell had been mentioned, but had made no effort to secure the place. As vice president of the Colonial Trust Company there is a heavy tax placed on his time.

Mr. Bell Is Considering.

None of Mr. Bell's friends are able to foreshadow what answer he will make to the judges. Since he retired from the office of county treasurer in 1893 he has devoted his entire time to the banking business. The treasurership was the only public position he has held, with the exception of the presidency of the board of managers of the Allegheny county workhouse. He has always taken an active interest in Republican politics, and is the recognized leader of the Sixth legislative district.

Should he decide to accept the appointment and become a candidate for the full term, it is altogether probable he would be one of the party's nominees this fall. In case he simply elects to fill out the unexpired term of Mr. Mercer, which is quite probable, the Republicans will still have two commissioners to nominate.

The Republican organiaztion did not, as an organization, formally indores any one for the commissionership. Men prominent in the party had spoken favorably of Mr. Zahniser, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Gumbert and Mr. Murray. The Orphans indorsed Mr. Zahniser, and would have been satisfied with the selection of Mr. Campbell. The Citizens and Democrats worked for the appointment of Mr. Rowley.

May Change Citizens' Plans.

Had Mr. Rowley been appointed commissioner he would have been nominated by the Citizens. Whether this action will now follow remains to be seen. It is known that James A. Clark, the Democratic nominee, wants him as his colleague. So far the Democrats and Citizens have not had a meeting to decide how the nine offices to be filled this fall are to be divided. The action of the court may cause some changes in their plans.

Murry A. Verner, chairman of the Citizens county committee, has named this committee to meet with the Democrats and divide the places in the ticket. Mayor Hays, E. J. McIlvain, director of the Allegheny department of public works; Recorder J. D. O'Neil, Max Blumenthal of Sharpsburg and S. G. Snee of Jefferson township. The appointment of Blumenthal and Snee is for the purpose of making it appear to the public that new men are being brought to the front in the Citizens organization. Three is a quorum and Hays, O'Neil and McIlvain can be counted on to pull together. The work of the committee is confined to a conference with a Democratic committee for the purpose of dividing the nine place on the ticket. The five Citizens have nothing to do with the naming of the candidates. This work will be performed by Mr. Bigelow, and his county convention on June 21 will ratify his slate. W. J. Brennen's Democratic committee has power to agree in a division of the places and make nominations. He is not yet ready to name the members.

KUZE NARROWLY DODGES DEATH FROM THE NOOSE

His Two Companions Were Pleasantly Stringing Him Up When Officers Appeared.

Domanick Kuze knows what it feels like to have one end of a rope around his neck and two men pulling hard on the other. He went through the experience in a hollow back of North Braddock yesterday, and when he was marched into the North Braddock police station an hour later the marks of the noose were still plainly showing. On either side of Kuze walked John Vebosky, and Wash Sagle, brother slavs of Kuze. It may be a pleasant pastime in the country from which they came to hang one another to the nearest tree, but Kuze does not think so. Only the timely arrival of Chief of Police Peter McDonough and another officer saved North Braddock from the stigma of a genuine lynching.

The three Slavs had been drinking the greater part of yesterday afternoon. In time they became quarrelsome. Vebosky and Sagle formed a partnership against Kuze. There was a fist fight by the roadside and Kuze was overpowered. One of the men had a rope. A noose was quickly formed and slipped over Kuze's neck. He fought his assailants to the best of his ability, but numbers told and gradually he became exhausted. The two men dragged him to a nearby tree and threw the rope over a limb.

It was at about this stage of the proceedings that Chief McDonough arrived. He lives in the vicinity, and is said to have been attracted by the cries of the combatants. There was a short, swift struggle and the officers came off victorious. The rope was taken from around Kuze's neck and all three men were taken to the police station. They will be given a hearing this morning.

WOMAN MAY YET RULE THE AMERICAN NATION

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 12.—The Hon. David J. Brewer, associate justice of the United States supreme court, delivered the Phi Beta Kappa address at Vassar college this evening. He was introduced by Miss Whitney, the astronomer of the college. Justice Brewer discussed the topic "Education and Citizenship."

"I will not discuss the question of woman's suffrage in this presence," said Justice Brewer, "but the suffrage is now enjoyed by both sexes in several of the states, and who shall say that within a generation it shall not be extended in every state to both men and women. Who shall say that before gray hair shall cover the heads of the women here tonight there may not sit in the White House a woman, who, like Queen Victoria, will shed luster upon this country as Victoria shed luster upon England?" This sentiment was heartily applauded.

Justice Brewer said that the recent experiences in Colorado and Chicago were well calculated to make Americans wonder, if immigration be continued at its present rate, if the forces of order will not be overthrown by lawlessness.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—(Special.) Morris L. Clothier, senior partner of Strawbridge & Clothier, and a members of the class of 1890, Swathmore college, has given $50,000 to his alma mater to endow a chair of physics in that institution. This announcement was made by President Joseph Ll. Swain at the meeting of the board of managers of the college this afternoon.

RECOGNITION MAY BE GIVEN NORWAY

MINISTER GRIP TAKES LEAVE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.

The state department has yet received no plea for recognition from the new Norwegian government. In fact no official information has come to the government from Minister Graves at Stockholm concerning the separation. The Swedish government naturally would not advise the diplomats at Stockholm of this internal crisis, which occurred through the action of the storthing at Christiania.

The announcement that the Norwegian foreign office will open June 15 at Christiania is taken as an indication that a plea for recognition of Norway's independence by the powers will soon be forthcoming. The policy of the United States has always been to recognize the independence of any government that could show it was stable and truly free and able to maintain its liberty. If Norway can show this to the satisfaction of the Washington government, recognition will follow as a matter of course.

Mr. A. Grip, probably the last diplomat who will ever be known in Washington as the minister of Sweden and Norway, today called at the state department to take leave of Acting Secretary Loomis. He will sail tomorrow from New York for his home in Norway on leave. He is a Norwegian, and although as a diplomatic representative of the united governments, he has taken no part in the propaganda of disunion, it is here thought but natural should the separation become complete, he should ally himself with his own race. Mr. Grip said today that he had not been advised of the disunion nor had he felt called upon to resign his post. It is not expected, however, that Mr. Grip will return to Washington in his present capacity. He has been minister here since 1889, a longer period than any other diplomat and for several years he has held the post of dean of the ministers. His service which has been continuous antedates that of all other diplomats. In Washington society Mr. Grip has been conspicuous. He is something of a huntsman, frequently following the Chevy Chase hounds on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

DOUBLE PENALTY IMPOSED

Capt. Kirkman, in Addition to Dismissal from the Army, Must Serve a Term in Penitentiary.

OMAHA, NEB., June 12.—(Special.)—Capt. W. C. Kirkham of the Twenty-fifth infantry, recently brought into prominent notice in connection with the scandal which resulted in the suicide of Mrs. Jessie Chandler, wife of a fellow officer, is to serve a term in the penitentiary in addition to dismissal from the army.

This, according to statements made at army headquarters here today, is the sentence of the second courtmartial which was recently concluded at Fort Niobrara. It is understood that the sentence passed by both courtmartials will receive the approval of the president and the secretary of war.

Automobile No. 916 yesterday afternoon ran down Felix Jacobiza, an Italian, at Seventh avenue and Grant street. The machine did not stop, but sped on out the Grant boulevard. Jacobiza was badly bruised. He is a "whitewing." The department of public works will seek to have the driver of the automobile punished.

BIG TRUST COMPANY PLANNED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 12.—Former President Cleveland has written a letter to Thomas F. Ryan concerning the trusteeship of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society, which he accepts. The letter is as follows:

"I have this morning received your letter asking me to act as one of three trustees to hold the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society which has lately been acquired by you and certain associates, and to use the voting power of such stock in the selection of directors of said society.

"After a little reflection I have determined I ought to accept this service. I assume this duty upon the express condition that, so far as the trustees are to be vested with discretion in the selection of directors, they are to be absolutely free and undisturbed in the exercise of their judgment; and that, so far as they are to act formally in voting for the directors conceded to policy-holders, a fair and undoubted expression of policy-holding choice will be forthcoming.

"The very general anxiety aroused by the recent unhappy dissensions in the management of the Equitable society furnishes proof of the near relationship of our people to life insurance. These dissensions have not only injured the fair fame of the company immediately affected, but have impaired popular faith and confidence in the security of life insurance itself, as a provision for those who, in thousands of cases, would be otherwise helpless against the afflictive visitations of fate.

"The character of this business is such that those who manage and direct it are charged with a grave trust for those who, necessarily, must rely upon their fidelity. In these circumstances they have no right to regard the places they hold as ornamental, but rather as positions of work and duty and watchfulness. Above all things, they have no right to deal with interests intrusted to them in such a way as to subserve or become confused or compounded with their personal transactions or ventures.

One Form of Stealing.

"While the hope that I might aid in improving the plight of the Equitable society has led me to accept the trusteeship you tender, I cannot rid myself of the belief that what has overtaken this company is liable to happen to other insurance companies and fiduciary organizations as long as lax ideas of responsibility in places of trust are tolerated by our people. The high pressure of speculation; the madness of inordinate business scheming and the chances taken in new and uncertain enterprises are constantly present temptations, too often successful in leading managers and directors away from scrupulous loyalty and fidelity to the interests of others confided to their care.

"We can better afford to slacken our pace than to abandon our old, simple, American standards of honesty; and we shall be safer if we regain our old habit of looking at the appropriation to personal uses of property and interests held in trust in the same light as other forms of stealing."

REPUBLICAN LEADERS WITHDRAW CANDIDATES

In View of Gas Lease Agitation They Will Present Other Names to Voters.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—The Republican leaders have decided to withdraw the candidates nominated for election in November, in view of the recent agitation over the proposed lease of the city gas works. With the exception of Judges Biddle and Ballett, all will make way for men to be named by the Republican city committee.

While Harry C. Ransley, the candidate for sheriff, who is now president of select council; John B. Lukins, the candidate for coroner, and City Commissioners Black and Wildemore were looked upon as strong men, it is believed now it would be best for them to retire so that men who have not figured in the gas controversy can go before the people.

So far the men who will take their places have not definitely been decided upon. Congressman George D. McCreary has been considered as a possibility for sheriff, but as he has large private interests as a banker he is averse to taking the nomination. As for the coronership, the present incumbent, Thomas Dugan, may be re-named, as David H. Lane favors him. No one so far has been considered for the commissionership.

TAKES UP COLLECTION WITH A BIG STICK

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—The Rev. Pinckney Samuels, pastor of the White Rock negro Baptist church, has caused much consternation among his flock because, it is alleged, he takes up the offerings on Sundays with a great big club. The Rev. Mr. Samuels found himself a prisoner this morning, he having been arrested on the oath of a member of the congregation, who charged him with having appropriated the funds of the church to his own use. He was held in $600 bail.

According to the members of Mr. Samuel's congregation, he first made his appearance in the White Rock pulpit three weeks ago, having been called from Wilmington. From the first he insisted that in compensation for his services he should receive each Sunday one-half of the collections.

The first collection amounted to $17.51, and Mr. Samuels wanted $10 of it. The congregation at first said "No." Mr. Samuels said "Yes," and Mr. Samuels received the $10. The next Sunday the collection was something like $3. The preached grew furious, it is said, and last Sunday, it is charged, he entered the pulpit with a club, which he carried when he took up the collection.

BELLIGERENTS SEND REPLIES

President Is Assured of Japan and Russia's Peaceful Purpose.

NOTIFIES THE WORLD

DISAGREEMENT OVER PLACE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.

His effort to bring an end to the war promising success, President Roosevelt today caused this announcement to be made at the White House:

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, had called to express the Russian government's assent to the president's proposition and to state that it would appoint plenipotentiaries to meet the plenipotentiaries of Japan to discuss the question of peace. The place of meeting is at present being discussed.

Later in the day, after Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, had called at the White House, it was announced that the Japanese assent had been likewise received. The president was willing that the text of the Japanese reply, which was written, should be made public, but Mr. Takahira deemed it best it should be withheld until a written reply should have been received from Russia. Count Cassini's message was simply verbal. Accordingly, there will probably be no publication of these notes assenting to peace-making until the president has received from Mr. Meyer, the American ambassador at St. Petersburg, the full text of Russia's rejoinder.

Will Have Full Power.

There is no expressed fear here that Russia will not endow her peace envoys with full plenary powers. The president has not been notified that the St. Petersburg government proposes to restrict the credentials of the men sent to make peace.

Whatever course the negotiations may take, the plenipotentiaries will report each discussion by telegraph to their respective governments. Without instructions from home they will agree to nothing. Even with envoys clothed with the fullest powers Russia could bring the peace-making to an abrupt halt at any juncture. So could Japan.

President Roosevelt, it is understood, has offered to suggest or appoint a meeting place in the event the Russian and Japanese governments cannot agree. One of the reports current in Washington today was that if the president was asked to name the point of meeting he might select some city in the United States, but not necessarily Washington.

During the past two weeks the president's efforts have been directed toward bringing the belligerents into amicable contact on the basis of a mutual agreement to consider terms of peace. This he accomplished finally today. It remains now for the belligerent powers to name their plenipotentiaries and agree upon a time and place for them to meet and discuss terms and to negotiate a treaty of peace. President Roosevelt has unequivocal assurances of the absolute sincerity of both governments in acceding to his suggestion.

Japan Answers First.

Japan was the first of the two powers to indicate its acceptance of President Roosevelt's proposition. The formal response to his identical note of Thursday last was received from the Japanese government Saturday. Informal assurances of acceptance of the president's suggestion were received from the Russian government a little later, but the assurances from St. Petersburg were not of the same definite character as had been received from Tokyo. Early today Ambassador Meyer, at St. Petersburg, informed this government that Russia had accepted the president's proposition and would name representatives with plenary powers to meet plenipotentiaries of Japan. While satisfactory, the response of Russia was not in the same definite form as that of Japan. It had been the expectation of the president to publish to the world the replies of the two governments to his identical notes, but under the circumstances this could not be done.

A few hours subsequent to the receipt of Ambassador Meyer's cablegram, Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, made an appointment to see President Roosevelt at 11 o'clock today. The president received him in the blue room of the White House. The ambassador, in the conference which followed, presented verbally Russia's acceptance of the president's proposition for a conference to discuss peace terms. He had been instructed by the St. Petersburg government to convey to the president the willingness of Emperor Nicholas to appoint plenipotentiaries to meet like representatives of the Emperor of Japan to negotiate a treaty of peace. While the response of the Russian government was not reduced to writing, it was regarded for a time, as sufficient for the negotiations. Shortly afterward the official statement quoted was made public.

Cassini Holds a Secret.

In addition to indicating the acceptance by the Russian government of President Roosevelt's proposition, Count Cassini informed the president of Russia's desires as to the place of meeting of the plenipotentiaries and named those who probably would be delegated to represent the Russian emperor. At the conclusion of the conference Count Cassini declined to discuss for publication the details of his interview with President Roosevelt.

Minister Takahira had a conference with President Roosevelt at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The interview lasted 35 minutes, and, like that of Count Cassini, was held in the blue room of the White House. After the conference Minister Takahira walked over to the executive offices and had a brief talk with Secretary Loeb. The minister, in response to inquiries, said the situation was so delicate that he did not feel free to talk about it. He expressed the opinion that the situation would be resolved satisfactorily in due time, but declined to indicate, even in a general way, the contents of the Japanese response to the president's identical notes, saying that such information could come only from the president.

Peace Is Undetermined.

It can be said that the place of the meeting of the plenipotentiaries of the two governments has not been finally selected. In the arrangement of this detail and others of like importance President Roosevelt is acting as an intermediary between Russia and Japan. Russia, through Ambassador Cassini, has indicated her preference for one place for the holding of the peace conference, and Japan, through Minister Takahira, has suggested another. It is intimated, officially, that an agreement on the place of holding the conference may be determined on in a few days, but no suggestion, except of a negative character, of the choice of either of the belligerents is obtainable. It is known that neither Washington nor the battlefield of Manchuria was the selection of either Russia or Japan. Further than that, information of a definite nature was withheld, but it is expected that the two governments principally interested will have no serious difficulty in reaching an agreement on that point as Russia already has indicated that Japan's selection of a place would be satisfactory to Emperor Nicholas.

Negotiations between Washington and St. Petersburg and between Washington and Tokyo are in progress, and the final arrangements for the peace conference, in its essential details, are likely to be a question of only a few days. As soon as the arrangements are completed definitely an armistice will be agreed upon, and the great armies in Manchuria will lower their bayonets pending the formal negotiation of a permanent treaty of peace.

Learns Japan's Preference.

Count Cassini called at the White House tonight by appointment to discuss with the president the selection of a place for the peace conference. This subject had been discussed by the president in his conference with the Japanese minister during the afternoon. Count Cassini learned from the president tonight Japan's views about this, and also as to the number of plenipotentiaries. Upon his return to the embassy the ambassador it is understood communicated this information to his government.

On one point Count Cassini and Mr. Takahira are agreed, and that is the undesirability of Washington for a midsummer conference. What else was talked about at the conference is not known. Count Cassini not feeling at liberty to discuss his visit in any particular. Nor is it known whether the ambassador's verbal, though thoroughly official, assurances delivered this morning were presented in writing tonight. An ambassador frequently communicates verbally, as the personal envoy of his sovereign, what a minister, as the representative of his government, prefers to reduce to writing. Both forms are official.

It is understood in a high official quarter here that Marquis Ito, Baron Komura, minister for foreign affairs, and Gen. Yamagata, chief of staff, are the three men under consideration by the emperor as plenipotentiaries, and that the inclination of the belligerents is that each select two plenipotentiaries. M. Nelidoff is understood to have been tentatively selected by Russia ,and it is suggested as possible he may be assisted by Baron Rosen.

May Be The Hague or Geneva.

Elimination of Washington as the probable choice of the belligerents for their place of peace-making would not preclude the selection of an American city. Briefly the situation is this: Japan does not wish Paris, and Russia is unfavorable to Mukden or Chefoo. Both are opposed to Washington for climatic reasons, though neither would oppose the selection of an American watering place and among those already mentioned are Newport and Manchester-by-the-Sea. This idea is especially favored among the representatives of the neutral powers who establish their embassies and legations in New England for the summer.

Of the places under consideration in Europe, Russia, it is said, might accept The Hague. Geneva is also considered, and it would not be objectionable to Japan. A long conference at the Russian embassy this evening between Mr. Vanswinderin, the Netherlands minister, and Count Cassini, strengthened the belief that Russia was seriously considering the selection of The Hague.

A point realized by the representatives of both belligerents here, and which has been emphasized in their dispatches, is that in order to take advantage of the president's offer to give any advice or assistance that might be solicited, the selection of an American city for the conference would facilitate the negotiators in keeping in close touch with the president.

Takahira to Be Ambassador.

News reached several of the foreign legations tonight that the Japanese minister, Kogoro Takahira, would within a few days be raised to the dignity of an ambassador, to participate in the peace negotiations between Japan and Russia. This change is to be made, it was announced, as an evidence of the friendly feeling of Japan for the United States and in recognition of the kindly services of the president in offering his offices to effect peace between the warring powers.

Minister Griscom, it was announced, would be "relieved" and another appointed shortly to his place, the United States raising the post at Tokyo from a ministry to an embassy. Japan, it is said, has already announced her intentions and is pleased that the United States will reciprocate.

MILL IN DOUBLE TURN GIVES WORK TO MANY

Two hundred skilled steel workers of McKeesport were yesterday notified to report for duty at the Boston Iron and Steel mill, which has been working only half-time for several weeks. The mill will be put on double turn and it will be in full operation for the first time in several months. Many of the employes who had secured work at other mills have quit their jobs to return to the Boston mill, where the wages are higher.

MAYOR'S AX CUTS A BROAD SWATH

Seventy-Nine Quaker City Employes in Two Departments Go Down Before It.

SAMUEL SALTER RESIGNS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—The principal developments in the local political situation today was the resignation of Samuel Salter as assistant to the chief clerk in the office of the county commissioners and the issuing of an order for the dismissal on Wednesday of 65 employes in the bureau of city property, and 14 in the electrical bureau. Probably the most interesting development was the resignation of Salter who, some years ago, after being a fugitive from justice for about a year, returned to this city and was acquitted of the charge of stuffing a ballot box. In his resignation, which came as a surprise, Salter stated he intended to go into business.

The election fraud case with which Salter's name was linked was one of the most sensational in the annals of ballot-box crimes in this city. Salter, who had been a member of the legislature, and who was serving as deputy coroner, was arrested in November, 1896, along with six or seven others, some of whom lived in Washington, D. C., charged with conspiracy in placing 215 fraudulent votes in a ballot box. They entered bail and then fled from this jurisdiction.

The bail was forfeited after a long fight in the courts, and when execution for the bail was about to be issued, Salter and some other accused men returned. Mayor Weaver was at that time district attorney, and he promptly brought Salter to trial. The jury rendered a verdict of acquittal. A curious feature of the case was that one of the defendants subsequently indicted with Salter, gave himself up, pleaded guilty to conspiracy and was sentenced to one year. He was free before the other fugitives returned, but could not be found when wanted as a witness.

After Salter's acquittal, city councils created the position of assistant to the chief clerk of the county commissioners, and Salter was appointed to the place at a salary of $2,000 a year. One of the duties of the county commissioners is to prepare the election paraphernalia of the city. After the uprising against the gas lease subsided, some of the Philadelphia newspapers asked the county commissioners to remove Salter, but they took no action. Salter's resignation today, the commissioners say, came to them voluntarily. The county commissioners are elected by the people and have complete control of the employes under them.

The order for the dismissal of 65 men from the bureau of city property was not unexpected. The mayor has issued an order that all employes not needed should be dismissed. After an investigation of his bureau, George Pierie, chief of the bureau, said the dismissal of these men would not cripple the bureau. "They are not needed nor were they ever needed," he said. The men to be dismissed are foresters, carpenters, painters, plumbers, bricklayers and laborers. Their dismissal will mean a saving to the city of more than $41,000 a year.

Mayor Weaver has another contest with councils. This time it is over the granting to the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company of franchises to operate surface cars on an additional 110 miles of streets without the city receiving any compensation. The bills granting the franchises were passed and vetoed by the mayor. On the day the gas lease passed councils, the bills were passed over the mayor's veto. After winning the gas lease fight, the mayor had bills introduced in councils repealing the franchise bills. The repealers will be considered by councils committee on street railways tomorrow.

The mayor today had his first conference with the advisory committee of 14 appointed by him last week to advise him on any problems that may arise during the remainder of his term. City finances were under discussion, but nothing was given out for publication.

The director of public safety has prohibited a church prom holding a raffle. In an effort to raise funds, the Roman Catholic Church of the Ascension intended raffling a house valued at $2,500. A complaint was made to the public safety department on the ground a raffle was a gambling proposition. The director held the case under advisement. Today the Rev. D. J. Broughal, rector of the church called on the director and was informed the raffle could not take place.

MISS ALICE ROOSEVELT RIDES ON SLOW TRAIN

Changes Trains at Cincinnati, So It Is Said, to Avoid Meeting Noted Man.

Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the president, passed through Pittsburgh at 3:24 o'clock this morning, over the Pennsylvania, en route to Washington from Cincinnati, where for over a week past she has been having a gay time socially with the Longworths and other well known people of the Queen City.

Miss Roosevelt was on Panhandle train No. 20, which left Cincinnati at 4:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and which is one of the few slow trains the Pennsylvania lines west run. There was some surprise expressed when it was learned that the young woman was traveling on that train, and still more curiosity as to what it all meant when it was learned that she was occupying, not a stateroom in one of the Pullmans, but the middle compartment of the car "Amethyst," the last coach in the train.

However, there came from Cincinnati last night what purported to be an explanation of these conditions. The report was to the effect that Miss Roosevelt had intended to leave Cincinnati on the fast and popular flyer that puts out of that city at 2:15 p. m. and gets into Pittsburgh at 10 o'clock p. m., in time to connect with the Pittsburgh limited to the east, but that at the last minute she shifted her plans and decided to take the slow train because she learned that Booker T. Washington, the noted colored man, who was entertained at the White House on one occasion by her illustrious father, was to be a passenger on the train leaving at 2:15 o'clock.

The annual cannon exercises were held in the afternoon.

Sharpsburg to Have a New School.

Sharpsburg voters yesterday approved an issue of $75,000 in bonds for the erection of a new borough school building by a majority of 300 votes. The result is a victory for the Republicans of the borough who were defeated by the Democratic-Citizens opposition a year ago in their effort to have the bonds approved. The new building will be erected at Linden and North Canal streets at a cost of $85,000.

Cruise to Labrador.

The S. S. Pretoria of the Bermuda service, of the Quebec Steamship Company, has been chartered for the cruise to Labrador, to leave New York on August 3. The expedition is specially organized for the purpose of enabling scientists to view the midnight sun which can be seen in its entirety on August 30 at Indian Harbor. The party will be met there by Dr. Alfred Wilfrid T. Grenfell, whose work amongst the deep sea fishermen of that vicinity has attracted very much attention recently.

The cruise is under the management of Miss Isabell Rogers Edgar, who has spent several seasons in Labrador, and is familiar with conditions which prevail there. Thomas Cook & Son, the tourist agents, are acting for the Steamship Company and charterer for the sale of tickets. The Pretoria will proceed as far north as Cape Chidley, which is within the Arctic circle, returning to Indian Harbor in time to view the total solar eclipse there.

NO RIGHT TO USE FUNDS

world was said today to be a part of the plan of Thomas F. Ryan in negotiating the purchase of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society held by James H. Hyde. Mr. Ryan's plan was reported today to be to consolidate the Equitable Trust Company, the Mercantile Trust Company and the Morton Trust Company, all of this city, with the last-named in control.

Suits for Receivership.

It is expected that this would result in creating a financial institution with deposits second only to those of the National City bank of this city, which has deposits of $185,000,000. The deposits of the proposed Consolidated Trust Company would amount to $169,000,000, the capital stock to $7,000,000 and the surplus to $22,700,000. Mr. Ryan's plan was reported today to contemplate also the elimination of the control of subsidiary companies by the Equitable Life Assurance society.

Nine policy-holders today filed suits of intervention in the United States circuit court, asking to be made party plaintiffs with J. Willcox Browne of Baltimore, who recently filed a suit in the federal courts asking that a receiver be appointed for the surplus of the Equitable Life Assurance society. Mr. Browne also asked for an accounting, claiming the policy-holders, of which he was one, had not received their equitable proportion of the surplus, as provided for in their respective policies. The policy-holders intervening are C. R. Kline, a resident of Beechwood, Pa., and Sheldon Jackson, F. H. Newell, P. C. Warman, Edward W. Parker, W. T. Thom, G. F. Hoffman, M. H. Darton and C. A. Fisher, all of Washington, D. C.

Chairman Morton, in his circular issued today, says:

The Equitable society has been severely tested and the ordeal has revealed to the world its strength and prosperity with an emphasis which could never have been shown as significantly by any ordinary method of demonstration. The fears of timid policy-holders have been aroused and many have been alarmed by exaggerated or misleading articles. But it is astonishing that the increase in lapses has been so small. The steadfastness of the body of the society's policy-holders under the strain to which they have been subjected has been as remarkable as it has been gratifying. All this furnishes the highest tribute to the excellence of the society's condition and to the zeal and loyalty of its agents.

The field force of the society will be kept thoroughly posted in reference to future development. Every effort will be made to develop the business along sound lines for the benefit of policy-holders and agents alike, and I pledge you my most cordial co-operation in carrying on this work.

Morgan's Hand Is Visible.

In the opinion of Wall street, the most significant thing in connection with Thomas F. Ryan's purchase of the controlling Hyde stock of the Equitable, is a visible token that J. P. Morgan & Co. are associated with the Ryan street railway syndicate.

This deduction comes from the fact that Francis Lynde Stetson, Mr. Morgan's personal counsel, is the man who visited Mr. Cleveland in behalf of Mr. Ryan and requested him to become one of the trustees of the Hyde stock. It is clear from this fact, Wall street says, that Morgan & Co. are lined up with Mr. Ryan and his friends in their efforts to secure the new franchise for the projected additional city subways.

According to certain friends of the persons named, this does not mean any special hostility on the part of Mr. Morgan toward the Belmont-Interborough interests, but is merely a recognition of the fact that subway completion is not only inevitable but, in the interests of the city, desirable. It is also desirable, it is said, in the interests of the New York Central Railroad Company as against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and Mr. Morgan's interests are always with the former.

Personnel of the Syndicate.

Much significance is attached by Wall street to the personnel of the leading men associated with Mr. Ryan in the purchase of the Hyde stock—Edward J. Berwind and Peter A. B. Widener. Their interests are identical in many respects and very far reaching.

Mr. Morgan and Mr. Widener are old and very close personal and business friends. Mr. Berwind, too, it is worth noting ,is a close friend of Edward H. Harriman. Mr, Berwind, Mr. Widener and Mr. Ryan are all interested in the Metropolitan street railway system. Mr. Berwind is a director of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company and Mr. Berwind and Mr. Ryan are directors of the Metropolitan Securities Company, the National Bank of Commerce and the Morton Trust Company, andthey are also interested in various other companies, such as Consolidated Gas, the Tobacco trust, the American Surety Company, the Fifth Avenue Trust Company and numerous other large financial and industrial companies. Mr. Berwind, too, is a director of Mr. Morgan's International Mercantile Marine Company.

Mr. Ryan's reply to Mr. Cleveland's letter was written today. He says:

I have your letter of the 10th inst., in which you formally accept the appointment to act as one of the trustees of the majority of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society. I heartily concur in the sentiments you expressed in your statement of the purposes to be accomplished by placing this stock in the hands of yourself, Judge O'Brien and Mr. Westinghouse, as trustees, in order that the directors of the society may be selected by the trustees absolutely, in accordance with their own judgment and the wishes of the policy-holders. Thanking you for the personal sacrifice which you have made in undertaking to perform this important public duty.

Preparing the Trust Agreement.

Mr. Cleveland's plan to come to this city today was interfered with by other personal business, and it was said he would leave Princeton Wednesday morning to meet his colleagues, Judge O'Brien and Mr. Westinghouse, in the office of Mr. Ryan. Mr. Ryan's lawyers spent today preparing the trust agreement and it will be ready for presentation to the three trustees at a meeting which is to be held Wednesday afternoon.

In this connection it was learned by such of the agents as are here awaiting developments before determining their own action, that Gage E. Tarbell, the second vice president, has been shorn of much of his power over the agents. Many of them have been inclined to stand strongly behind him in a spirit of self-protection. He has until a few days ago had practically supreme control over the advance of agents on account of their renewal contracts, the extent of which was so severely censured in the Frick report.

Now, however, applications for such advances must go before the executive committee and must later receive the approval of Mr. Morton before they are finally approved, regardless of what Mr. Tarbell's wishes may be in the matter, even provided he remains as an officer of the society.

The main cause leading to this change in policy respecting advances was the discovery by the Frick committee of the very large advances to agents on renewal accounts, especially to the agents in the metropolitan district. One agent was found to be indebted to the society to the extent of $200,000, while at least three others had been advanced amounts ranging from $30,000 to $150,000 apiece.

Among the western and southern agents this advance was not carried to so great an extent, and consequently those agents are more free to act with respect to their attitude toward Tarbell. Some of them who are now in New York are greatly dissatisfied and are threatening to resign.

When Mr. Tarbell was asked about a prospective meeting of the agents, he said such a meeting might be held, but if so he had not been notified of the fact. All the agents who have recently come to the city to watch developments are still here, and it is not unlikely that within the next few days they will meet, not only to agree on a reply to the letter addressed to them today by Mr. Morton, but possibly to try to agree on a concerted plan of action with respect to their future relations with the society.

Founder of Homes to Speak Here.

Charles N. Crittenton, the founder of Florence Crittenton homes and refuges, will speak this evening at the Florence Crittenton home, 1825 Center avenue. Tomorrow he will conduct the noonday meeting at the Y. M. C. A. and in the evening will speak in the Sixth United Presbyterian church, North Highland avenue, East End.

RUSSIANS' PLIGHT WAS MISERABLE

Rojestvensky's Plan Was Unknown and There Had Been No Practice in Gunnery.

FIGHT WAS HOEPLESS BUNGLE

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

VLADIVOSTOK, June 12.—A series of interviews with naval officers who survived the battle of the sea of Japan has developed a most sensational story of the causes of the Russian disaster, and the complete demoralization which followed the sinking of the flagship Kniaz Souvaroff and the wounding of Admiral Rojestvensky. It is explained that not a single officer of the fleet knew the commander-in-chief's plans. The admirals in command of divisions knew no more than the sub-lieutenants, and had to rely only on the signals of the flagship. Admiral Nebogatoff, on whom the command devolved, had seen Rojestvensky only once after the juncture of their squadrons, and then only for 15 minutes.

All the stories of extensive target practice in Madagascar, it seems, were false. During the entire voyage there practically was no training in gunnery worthy of the name, and the big gun practice was confined to three shots for each vessel. Ugly stories are told of the happenings at Madagascar. Some of the crews were certainly untrained in gunnery, and being exhausted by the eight months' voyage under trying moral and physical conditions were no match for the veteran Japanese, whose marksmanship was wonderful.

The Japanese concentrated their fire on one ship until she was placed out of action, and then on another, thus successively sinking the Oslabaya, Alexander III. and Kniaz Souvaroff. Some ships developed deplorable structural defects. The Oslabaya sank without having a single hole below the water line. Heavy seas entered the vessel above the water line and the watertight compartments, which were changed several times during the voyage, did not stand the strain they had been calculated to stand and burst, flooding and heeling the vessel over until she turned turtle.

Lack of homogeneity among the ships made it impossible to maneuver in harmony. The Vladimir Monomach, Admiral Oushakoff and Admiral Seniavin had to lag behind, on this account becoming easy victims. Finally, the ammunition was exhausted after the first day's fight.

Even the very morning of the battle, while the buzzing of the wireless instruments on the Russian ships showed the Japanese scouts were communicating his dispositions to Admiral Togo, Admiral Rojestvensky continued his careless manœuvering, and when the Japanese actually appeared, the Russians were caught in an impossible formation and were attacked on three fronts. Rojestvensky's position was cramped and his transports were badly placed and caused confusion.

While the Japanese were training projectiles even from machine guns on the Russian ships, the latter were huddled together, blanketing each other's fire. Only the leaders of the columns could bring their guns to bear, and even those untrained gunners fired wildly. To render matters worse, the mines and floating torpedoes sown in the paths of the Russian divisions added to the confusion. The Borodino, Admiral Nakhimoff and Navarin fell victims to these obstructions.

It is a heartrending narrative that Russia and the world should know. The sailors and officers were not altogether to blame. The main fault lies elsewhere. There were many heroes among the Russians. Capt. Berkin of the Oslabaya committed suicide on her bridge as the ship sank, rather than save himself. There were thousands of other heroes whose names the world will never know.

BARBOUR WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE

Declines to Allow His Name to Be Used in City Committee Fight.

There was a positive announcement made in a citizens organ yesterday that John B. Barbour, Jr., would be a candidate for chairman of the Republican city committee. Mr. Barbour had no knowledge of his aspirations until he read of them in the paper that had taken the liberty to announce his candidacy. He promptly denied the story and will not allow his name to be used at the meeting of the city committee on Friday evening. M. G. Leslie, the present chairman, says he is a candidate to succeed himself. He does not expect any opposition.

Thomas J. Ford, chairman of the Republican county committee, will call that body together for organization on June 24. The present executive officers will be re-elected. It may be the committee having in charge the revision of the rules will be ready to make a report. It met yesterday and will meet again tomorrow.

These Republican ward committees have reported to headquarters that the following officers have been chosen:

First ward—Henry Godfrey, Jr., president, A. D. Wiseman, vice president; Henry Louden, secretary; William Richardson, treasurer; Henry Godfrey, Jr., Peter Dugan, John King, city committeemen.

Third ward—John A. Fugassi, president; F. W. Bonini, vice president; Wilbur McKelvy, secretary; Otto Reinholt, treasurer; John A. Fugassi, F. W. Bonini, Harry W. Diehl, city committeemen.

Fourth ward—James M. Fullerton, president; P. A. Manion, vice president; W. J. Sweeney, secretary; P. A. Manion, treasurer; Charles J. Sweeney, J. A. Manian, Hugh Murray, city committeemen.

WILL CONDEMN LAND:

Allegheny Common Council Fixes the Grade for the Washington Avenue Bridge Approach.

Allegheny common council last evening passed finally the ordinance establishing the grade of the Washington avenue bridge approach 165 feet west of the Ft. Wayne railroad, and ordering the condemnation of certain land for the approach to the bridge. The grade of Chester avenue was changed and authority was given for the erection of a fountain in the basin of East park. The payment of $300 to Morris Roach for time lost on account of hurts sustained while on duty in the bureau of police, was authorized.

The proposed grading of Woodland avenue by Fred Gwinner and others, at their own expense, was referred back to the public works committee. Ordinances were introduced and referred for constructing public sewers in Winifred, Colfax and Sumner streets, for the construction of porches around the City home buildings and for the employment of an architect to do the work.

TEXAS IS SUNK, THEORETICALLY

Cruiser and Three Torpedo Boats Suffer Same Fate Attacking Fort Howard.

GARRISON SLEEPS AT GUNS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

FORT MONROE, VA., June 12.—Admiral Dickens' fleet took advantage of the unfavorable weather conditions and attacked the fortifications at Fort Monroe at 2:15 o'clock this morning. The attack lasted until shortly after 3 o'clock. The rapid fire guns on board the vessels of the fleet were used and the batteries on shore made a lively response. The Texas, Hartford and Hornet attempted to run by the forts at 2:21 a. m., but the firing from the batteries put them out of commission.

FORT MONROE, VA., June 13.—Up to 1 o'clock this morning Admiral Dickins had made no attack on Fortress Monroe, and nothing concerning the movements of his fleet during the last 11 hours was known here. Conditions are favorable to him, as rain has been falling steadily since shortly before dark and in consequence the searchlights at the fort and its outlying stations are less effective than would be in clear weather.

Admiral Dickins did the unexpected thing yesterday by making an early morning attack on Fort Howard and the other local fortifications. Three torpedo boat destroyers were theoretically blown out of the water by the artillery men stationed at Fort Howard. Two of these answered the descriptions of the Worden and Whipple, while the third was either the McDonough, Stuart or Lawrence.

Promptly at midnight scout boats were sent out from the local fortifications. At 12:50 o'clock these boats signalled the artillery men at Fort Howard that the "enemy" was approaching, and all the men at the fort were immediately called to the guns. Almost simultaneously the men were warned of the approach of the boats by the signals at Sandy Point. The search lights at Forts Howard, Smallwood, Armistead and Caroll were headed down the river, and very soon a destroyer resembling the Worden, was detected steaming up the river at full speed.

Five minutes after receiving the first signals the men at Fort Howard opened fire on the approaching destroyer with rapid-fire and short-range guns. While the "Worden" was theoretically blown up, she proceeded past Fort Howard and on up the river. The other forts immediately got their guns into action, and all took turns in shooting at the approaching "enemy."

About 15 minutes after the approach of the first of the "enemy's" fleet, another destroyer, evidently the Whipple, was discovered. This vessel suffered the same fate as the first. A third destroyer soon made its appearance and like the other two was "sunk."

Then the battleship Texas made a frontal demonstration, and from seven-foot knoll fired her big and little guns at Fort Howard. While the Texas was making this demonstration a swift cruiser made a flank movement and went up the bay toward Pooles island. It was discovered in the nick of time by the men at Fort Howard, who fired on the ship. The fire was returned after a lively skirmish the gunners at the fort theoretically sent both the Texas and the cruiser to the bottom.

After the ineffectual attack upon Fort Howard, the "enemy" as the attacking vessels are known, withdrew and steamed down Chesapeake bay to join the rest of Admiral Dickins' squadron off Sandy Point.

The garrison sleeps at the guns, one-third of the troops being now at the guns all the time while the remainder rest in tents that have been pitched close to the guns. At the least alarm the "call to arms" is sounded and everybody in the post rushes to his post. Col. Frank Thorp, the battle commander, and all the officers remain at the guns the same as the men. All meals are served at the emplacements of the guns.

DEATH BY POISON IS REPORTED TO CORONER

Mrs. Bollman Dies 15 Hours After Taking It—Suicide of Harnessmaker. Boy Is Drowned.

The coroner was notified yesterday evening of the death of Mrs. Bollman of No. 214 Millvale avenue. The death occurred at 3:30 o'clock. Dr. H. Afthaler, who reported the case, said that Mrs. Bollman had died of poison taken on Sunday at midnight. Mrs. Bollman was 59 years old. Late last night the coroner had not investigated the death, but it was believed that the poison was medicine of which the woman had accidentally taken an overdose.

Frederick Henninger, a harnessmaker, living at No. 4151 Liberty avenue, hung himself yesterday in his shop with a clothes line. The body was found by a customer. Henninger is said to have been troubled since the death of his wife last January and to have told friends that some day he would kill himself.

John Stosh, aged 12, son of John Stosh of Third avenue and McClure street, Homestead, was drowned in the Monongahela river at Highland station, opposite Homestead, at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and his body was recovered shortly afterward. The lad, with two others, had hired a skiff and rowed across to some barges. Young Stosh became frightened at the heavy waves by a passing boat. He made a jump for the barges, but failed to reach them.

The body of the girl floating in the Ohio river near Ambridge last Thursday has been identified as that of Lida B. Bougher, who committed suicide on January 2 by jumping from the Sharpsburg bridge. The girl had been suffering from typhoid fever and jumped into the river while suffering from a fit of melancholia. Her brothers went to Ambridge yesterday and completed arrangements for having the body conveyed to the dead girl's home.

Jeremiah Jones of the West End dropped dead yesterday afternoon in a paint works at Pennsylvania avenue and Bidwell street, Allegheny, where he was working. He was 65 years old.

BACK MAY BE BROKEN.

Charles Laughlin Is Badly Hurt by Falling from Porch During Fight.

Charles Laughlin, aged 43, was badly injured last night by falling at his home, 611 West Robinson street, Allegheny. He was taken to the Allegheny General hospital, and the physician stated he is partly paralyzed. It is said Laughlin and John Grady, a boarder at the house, were struggling on a porch, when Laughlin either fell or was pushed over. Grady was arrested and locked up in the North Side police station. At the hospital it is believed Laughlin's back is broken.

It is said the men had a quarrel some time ago about a woman, and that made up on Sunday, and began drinking together, keeping up the drinking until last night. About 8 o'clock they renewed their old quarrel. There were no eye-witnesses to the struggle and both men were so intoxicated they could not tell how Laughlin happened to fall.

Bond Issue Vote Is Divided.

An election was held in Sewickley yesterday on the question of a $90,000 bond issue, $40,000 to liquidate outstanding indebtedness on which a high rate of interest is charged, and $50,000 for a new municipal building. The $40,000 issue carried by 35 votes, but the $50,000 issue was lost by two votes.

STANDING IN AWE OF DREADED "BLACK HAND"

Brutal Assault on Woman Stirs Italian Population of Hamlet of Lenhart.

Again does the ominous "Black Hand" arise to disturb the peace of the little hamlet of Lenhart, two miles from Turtle Creek. A brutal assault on Mrs. Benjamin Gizzie, in her home yesterday morning recalls to her neighbors the fact that two months ago Joseph Marricini, who lives next door, was threatened with death if he did not leave the town. Mrs. Gizzie's friends say that there is a connection betwen the leiter to Marricini and the assault of yesterday, and are ready to swear that the mysterious stranger who invaded the Gizzie home is a member of the fateful society of the "Black Hand."

The Gizzies and Marricinis live in adjoining houses in Lenhart. The town is largely made up of well-to-do Italian families. The woman's husband is an agent for a brewery, and is quite prosperous. Soon after 8 o'clock yesterday morning a stranger was seen lounging outside the Gizzie home. At 7 he knocked at the door, which was opened by Mrs. Gizzie. The stranger entered and engaged the woman in conversation, speaking in Italian. While talking she went about her household work. When her back was turned the stranger suddenly sprang on her, knocked her down and began beating her.

Mrs. Gizzie is large and strong, and fiercely fought her assailant. She managed to get on her feet, but a blow from the stranger's fist laid her low. Tom McNally, a miner, passing the house heard the struggle and went to the rescue. As he entered the front door the stranger skulked from the rear, vaulted the back fence and went swiftly down the road. He has not been seen since. There was great excitement in the little town last night. The people are talking in whispers of the dreaded "Black Hand."

HOUSE BLOCKS TRAFFIC.

Striker Leaves Big 10-Room Structure Standing in Middle of Fourth Avenue, Tarentum.

The big 10-room house of R. J. Toepfer of Tarentum, is standing in the middle of Fourth avenue in that borough. How long the house will continue to block the thoroughfare depends, apparently, upon the settlement of a strike which suddenly stopped the work of moving the house yesterday.

The Duster Contracting Company of Tarentum was employed by Toepfer to transfer his house from Fifth avenue to a lot fronting on Fouth avenue. When the building had been taken half way to the new location, the laborers demanded an increase in wages from $1.50 to $1.75 a day. This the contractor refused to grant and the men struck. In the meantime the house is effectually blocking traffic. The family slept in the house last night.

Will Dedicate New Church.

The Methodists of Port Vue, opposite McKeesport, will dedicate their new church at that place next Sunday. The Rev. J. E. Knox of Greensburg will deliver the dedicatory sermon. The pastor, the Rev. J. M. Mason, is arranging a special musical program.

JURY FIXING IS THE LATEST CHARGE IN THE GRAFT CASE

S. C. Wilkinson Arrested for Alleged Tampering With Juror in Extortion Case.

SEALED VERDICT BROUGHT IN

Jury fixing is the latest allegation made by the commonwealth in the Allegheny graft cases, and Samuel C. Wilkinson, said to be a civil war veteran, who is employed as a miner in the Turtle Creek section of the county, and who is one of the present panel of jurors in criminal court, is charged with embracery, or trying to corrupt and influence James Haywood, one of the jurors in the Allegheny graft case that was on trial yesterday—that of Capt. James Wilson of the Allegheny police force, charged with extortion.

Wilkinson was arrested at 11 o'clock last night in Larimer avenue, Turtle Creek, near his home, by Jere Lutz and John F. Engbert of the county detective force, and turned over to Constable James Connell, a constable from Alderman Toole's office, who had the warrant for his arrest. He was at once brought to jail, reaching there at midnight. Wilkinson refused to say anything about his arrest.

All the way in from Turtle Creek he maintained a very discreet silance. The only words he uttered were "I'll ring the bell," when he and the constable reached the outer entrance of the jail. Wilkinson was hurried into the city as soon as he was arrested, without having any chance to secure bail. His family was left under the impression when they did not hear from him that he was being held in the city as a juror.

Close Surveillance of Jurors.

A close surveillance has been kept on all jurors of the panel and Haywood was twice seen to be approached on the street near the court house. When approached by Wilkinson, according to Detective Robinson, several of his men were near enough to hear the conversation. Wilkinson is alleged to have said that an acquittal was desired in the Wilson case, but if that was not possible they would like to have the jury disagree. The officers claim to have a clear case against the prisoner, and other arrests may follow today. Wilkinson sat as a juror in a murder case heard last week.

The jury in the Wilson case arrived at a verdict at 7:45 o'clock last evening, after being out four hours and 15 minutes. The verdict was sealed and will be presented at 10 a. m. today. The general impression, as gleaned from comment on the street last night, was that the verdict was one of acquittal.

Mr. Haymaker Got Active.

Yesterday, shortly after the jury trying Police Captain James Wilson on a charge of receiving money from Daisy Hess to permit her to open and run a disorderly house, was sent out to arrive at a verdict, Attorney John C. Haymaker prepared the information against Wilkinson. The information was entered before Alderman Toole shortly after 5 o'clock, while the jury was still deliberating, and Constable James Connell was sent to Turtle Creek to place Wilkinson under arrest.

The rumor that direct evidence had been secured by detectives working under the direction of the county detective, that attempts were being made to fix the jurors in the case, was circulated through the court house shortly after dinner, and caused considerable excitement among the jurors on the present panel. Many of them made inquiries as to who was charged with the crime, and the attorneys and detectives representing the district attorney had considerable difficulty keeping information of the affair from reaching interested parties. The matter was reported to Judge McClung as soon as the jury had retired. It was suggested that steps be taken at once to bring the man accused of the crime before the court. Attorney Haymaker then wrote the following information:

Information Made Before Toole.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania vs.
Samuel C. Wilkinson.

That on the 12th day of June, 1905, there was pending in the court of Quarter Sessions of the peace in and for the said county of Allegheny the case of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania against one James Wilson, charged with the crime of extortion, and while said cause was pending and being tried in said court the above defendant, on the day above mentioned, did attempt to corrupt and influence a juror in said case, to wit, James Haywood, by endeavoring in conversation, persuasion, promises and entreaties, and other means, to bias the mind and judgment of said juror in said cause then and there pending, contrary to the act of assembly in such case made and provided.

As soon as Attorneys Marron and Haymaker heard the report of the detectives who were watching the jury panel, they sent for County Detective Robinson and instructed him to go after the men accused. At that time no direct information had been received. Chief Robinson found one of the men, it is said, and conducted him to the district attorney's office, where he asked him a number of direct questions, among which was one as to whether he had talked to any member of the Wilson jury. This, it is said, the man denied. He was then permitted to depart, as no information had been made, and he could not be held on any charge.

Kind of Verdict Expected.

It is alleged by the men who reported the matter to the district attorney, that Wilkinson was seen talking to the juryman named in the information, and that he was heard to tell him certain things connected with the case. The man who reported this says Wilkinson took the juror into a toilet room on the third floor of the court house.

Under the circumstances the lawyers for the commonwealth abandoned hope for any other verdict than that of not guilty or a disagreement. They claim to have put in as strong a case as they could make it, and claim that the evidence warrants a conviction, as Attorney Marron stated to the jury. Attorney Marron made a strong argument for a verdict for the commonwealth, but remarked afterwards that unless he was mistaken the task was hopeless; that they could not hope for a conviction no matter what testimony they might produce.

In his speech Mr. Marron referred to the rumor of "jury fixing" by warning the jurors against "carrying out a corrupt compact to influence a wrong verdict." He did not have the evidence submitted later on when he made his speech, but he gave the jury to understand that the commonwealth had knowledge of certain "missionary" work that had been done with some of them.

Attorneys Haymaker and Marron will make formal complaint to the court this morning and charge contempt of court on the part of the man accused of fixing the jury, and the juror who listened to him. It is probable the court will take the matter up at once, and this will be an entirely separate action from that before Alderman Toole. The district attorney will ask for an immediate hearing before the alderman, and the case will probably be heard this afternoon, providing Wilkinson is arrested on the charge.

Jurors Are to Be Watched.

"From this time forth," said Mr. Marron last night, "we will devote a portion of our time to watching the jurors and those who are known to be regular 'jury fixers.' Our cases cannot be tampered with as they have been, and if we cannot convict the men charged with this crime, at least we will have the satisfaction of knowing our jurors are not fixed. All the commonwealth asks is fair treatment, and we propose to get it forthwith; if not one way, then another. We will never let up on any man caught tampering with the jury panel and before they are through with the commonwealth they will certainly wish they had tried their tactics on some easier game. We have certain other information regarding some of these men, and are only waiting developments to land them where they belong. We must have clean juries and propose to get them. Any juror approached who fails to notify the court will hereafter be dealt with as severely as the man or woman who approaches him.

Capt. Wilson was placed on trial yesterday morning, in criminal court, for the third time on charges arising from the investigation of graft on the North Side. The case against Wilson this time was for extortion in accepting $50 from "Daisy" Hess for allowing her to open a disorderly house at 60 West Robinson street, Allegheny. After each side had taken advantage of the law as to challenges, in which the defense objected to the Rev. J. T. McCrory, D. D., pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, who preached a sermon on Sunday on the work of the criminal court and the fate of the transgressor, the following jury was chosen:

Daisy Hess Tells Her Story.

Daisy Hess testified that she now lives at 52 West Robinson street, but it was at 60 West Robinson street she opened the house which, for the privilege of doing so, she paid Wilson $50. This was on September 8, 1904. She admitted keeping a disorderly house but refused to answer regarding the illegal selling of liquor. That question was not pressed. When asked if she had given the $50 to Captain Wilson herself, she said she had not.

"I gave it to Mrs. Freshman to give to him," she said.

"Where did you see Mrs. Freshman about getting 60 West Robinson street?" Mr. Haymaker asked.

"In Mrs. Foley's house."

"Did you give Mrs. Freshman any money?"

"I gave her $50 about September 1 of last year."

"What was your purpose in giving her that money?"

"She was to give it to Captain Wilson to allow me to open my house."

The witness then told of seeing Captain Wilson in Mrs. Freshman's store about a week after she had paid Mrs. Freshman the money. She said he asked her if she was capable of running a house and she said she was. He told her to go ahead and try it, and she did that same day. She said Wilson was in uniform when she saw him.

Attorney J. Scott Ferguson, who conducted the cross-examination, tried to get the Hess woman to admit she had been arrested for keeping a disorderly house, but she denied that she had. Mrs. Dora Freshman of 302 West Robinson street, was called. She gave her occupation as a dressmaker and said she had two children. Objection to the question as to who she made dresses for was sustained. She then told of paying $50 to Captain Wilson for permission for the Hess woman to open her house. She said she called Wilson out of her store into her hall, but did not say anything about the money.

"I just slipped it into his pocket," she said. "I was afraid he would not take it, so I did not say anything. Just slipped it into his coat pocket. He said: 'Is that all?' I did not reply, but went out into the yard. When I returned he was gone."

On cross-examination the witness said Wilson had on his uniform and she put the money in his left pocket.

Wilson Often at Mrs. Freshman's.

Sue Williams testified to seeing Captain Wilson many times about Mrs. Freshman's store. She was not cross-examined.

Edna Stewart, who lives across the street from Mrs. Freshman's store, testified to having seen Wilson about the house and store at all hours of the night and that she one night saw Wilson in Mrs. Freshman's bedroom.

Bertha Devine, Kitty Harden, Mamie Hunter and Lucy Hopkins all testified to having frequently seen Wilson in and around Mrs. Freshman's store and house.

Robert G. Robinson, chief of the county detectives, was called and testified that he had made the information against Wilson on information received. The court said there appeared to be enough evidence to warrant the information being made and Mr. Robinson was excused.

Annie Durig, a Polish domestic in the employ of Mrs. Freshman, said she saw Wilson frequently about the house and store and the prosecution rested.

Attorney William J. Brennen opened for the defense. He said Wilson would deny receiving the $50 and that the defense would show that the coat of the uniform the defendant wore contained no pockets. Mr. Ferguson offered in evidence the law governing cities of the second class.

Capt. Wilson then took the stand. He denied emphatically ever having received any money for allowing the Hess woman to open a disorderly house. He had sent for his uniform and said the coat contained only a right side pocket in which he kept his nippers and keys. The coat was produced and he put it on. He admitted, however, that it was not the coat he wore in the fall of 1904. He gave that one, he said, to a street car conductor. He could not remember, he said, the name of the conductor.

Wilson Gets Mixed Up.

On cross-examination Wilson admitted to often seeing both the Hess woman and Mrs. Freshman, but denied being in the latter's bedroom. He got considerably confused in fixing the date on which he gave the conductor the coat of his old uniform, stating first it was a year and a half ago, but when told that it was only about nine months ago that the Hess woman opened her house, he said he could not remember when he gave the coat away.

Henry H. Buente, superintendent of the Allegheny Carnegie library building, gave Wilson a good reputation and the defense rested, it being explained by Mr. Ferguson that their witnesses had been coming to court many days and could not longer afford to lose their time.

Mr. Ferguson made the closing argument for the defense. He declared it was absurd to charge his client with having taken the money from Mrs. Freshman. "The police regulations do not allow pockets in the coat of a captain's uniform," he said. "Yet this woman, Mrs. Freshman, swears she put the money in the pocket of his coat. It is the word of a man of good reputation against that of a woman of ill repute. The thing for you jurymen to decide is not whether there are houses of ill-fame in Allegheny, but whether Capt. Wilson got money from Daisy Hess to open a house."

Mr. Marron spoke for the commonwealth. He said Wilson was not being tried as a private citizen, but as a public official sworn to protect the city from crime, not to abet it. He scored Wilson severely for saying Mrs. Freshman was his friend. He said there is no reasonable excuse for houses of ill-fame being opened and fostered in Allegheny and he asked the jury to find for the prosecution.

Judge McClung in his charge to the jury said a man who aids or abets a woman to conduct a house of shame is as bad as the woman herself, but the jury must take in the whole of the evidence in making up its verdict. The jury retired at 3:20 o'clock.

SOME OF MARRON'S KEEN-EDGED SAYINGS

Among the many pithy things said by Attorney Marron in his closing address were the following:

"Upon your word society stands or falls. Your duty is more important than that of the soldier who gives his life for his country; you uphold or kill society."

"The counsel for the defense laid himself open when he said it is the word of a man against that of a law-breaker. Law-breaker by whose knowledge and permission? Capt. Wilson's."

"There are men who have nothing for a bad woman but a kick or a blow."

"In the war between Russia and Japan many people of this country have sympathy for one and contempt for the other. Why? Because long centuries of history tell us of that endless procession to Siberia. Innocent, suffering creatures guarded on either hand by uniformed brutes, who are taking them to a living death. Compare this procession with that of these women, who for the same centuries have been going to a living death, guarded by these uniformed brutes who are supposed to protect and foster innocent girlhood.

"Dora Freshman, the disorderly women's dressmaker, gets the price for her clothes when it is known she is the captain's friend and confidant."

WALLACE CHARGES TO BE SIFTED ON WEDNESDAY

Director Moore, After Consulting Haymaker and Marron, Sets Time. Gambling May Be Brought Up.

The hearing of Police Superintendent Alexander Wallace on the charge brought against him by Amos A. Dachroth, of having abused him in West Robinson street, Allegheny, has been set for Wednesday at 4 p. m. Dachroth is represented by Attorneys John C. Haymaker and John Marron, and Director Harry Moore did not fix the hour for the hearing until he had heard from the attorneys, who said that Wednesday at 4 o'clock would suit them.

The hearing will be private, as all police hearings are. Mayor Hays and Director Moore, as the superiors of Wallace, will hear and pass on the charge. Wallace said yesterday that he was confident the hearing would result in clearing him of the charge, as the man who had abused Dachroth would be produced at the trial.

It is understood that the attorneys will try to bring before the mayor and Director Moore evidence showing that gambling houses are in operation in the city, and that the raid made by county detectives upon Bert Baughman's place in East Liberty will figure. It is hinted that the mayor and the director will confine the testimony to the Dachroth charges, and that if Haymaker and Marron desire to bring up the existence of gambling houses against Wallace they must prefer new charges.

Director Moore expressed himself as ready to take up the gambling house question and promised that if evidence is produced showing that such houses exists because of police connivance or negligence the guilty policemen or police officials shall be punished. Wallace says the Baughman resort is a chartered club and that the police have no right to break into such places unless there is disorder.

Director Bigelow makes gratifying promises of park enlargements through the aid of private munificence. If he succeeds he will confirm his title as "Father of the Parks." Well-selected park areas are second only to pure water as a municipal asset, and in nothing is timely foresight more valuable.

One of the disadvantages of underground transit was thrust upon the attention of New York yesterday, when a broken water main flooded a part of the subway. The incident is no argument against subway installations, but it proves the necessity for more care in the construction of water service and sewer systems. A general construction of subways would inevitably lead to better and safer pipage under the streets of cities.

For some time suspicions have been entertained that Allegheny county juries are occasionally tampered with. Yesterday there were sensational reports in circulation about the court house. It need hardly be said that if any one is caught at this nefarious practice the courts will make an example of him calculated to warn others to keep clear of subornation. The heaviest legal penalty is none too much for the man who poisons the fountain of justice at its source.

Chief Miles Humphreys of the bureau of fire declares his engines are being ruined while pumping out the Shingiss street sewer. They are not designed for that sort of work. Moreover, they might be needed elsewhere at any moment. It would seem that common prudence would move the city to procure some donkey pumps for emergencies of this sort. They could lift more water than a fire engine without injury, and would not be subject to call for duty at another point to the detriment of flooding property.

The judges of the county courts have appointed John A. Bell as county commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of John Carson Mercer. Mr. Bell was county treasurer 12 years ago, and is now chairman of the workhouse board. He was one of the organizers of the Colonial Trust Company and is now its first vice president. It will thus be seen Mr. Bell is a business man in the foremost rank, and that he is familiar also with public affairs, so that he will bring marked competency to an office for which he was not a candidate and to which he has been chosen on the score of merit.

Former President Cleveland in his letter accepting the Equitable trusteeship improves the occasion to inculcate some precepts of righteousness which are very timely. He speaks with unusual directness and force, but in entire keeping with the position of moral authority he occupies, when he urges that we must "retain our old habit of looking at the appropriation to personal use of property and interests held in trust in the same light as other forms of stealing." This is plain talk, but is fully merited, and the plain people whose hearts are troubled by revelations of the astonishing growth of the spirit of mammon will respond with a hearty amen.

A committee of the American Asiatic association, composed of exporters of textile manufactures and steel products, made energetic protest to President Roosevelt yesterday against such enforcement of the Chinese exclusion laws as may destroy American trade in China. The president in reply denied improper exercise of powers on the part of immigration officials, but said he would endeavor to guard against injury to trade. The specific complaint of the Chinese government is that exclusion laws originally passed against laborers are now leveled equally against merchants, students and all other classes. We ought to be able to give the Chinese government reasonable assurances upon this point even if that should necessitate a revision of existing regulations. Southern cotton mill owners are taking an active interest in the matter, and their views are likely to secure the championship of the representatives of the south in congress.

Peace Prospects Brighten.

The peace movement initiated by President Roosevelt is making hopeful progress. It is now settled that the president's efforts to bring Russia and Japan into negotiation will be successful, for both powers have agreed to appoint plenipotentiaries to discuss the question of peace. Japan was first to respond, and it is stated that the assurances from Tokyo were more definite and positive than those from St. Petersburg, but the latter are sufficiently satisfactory. Matters have progressed so far that the place of meeting is now engaging attention, and it is not expected that there will be any difficulty in arranging that detail, but it is thought that Washington will not be the place selected. Upon this point it is intimated that Russia will defer to Japan.

Everything now looks propitious, and through President Roosevelt's good offices it is now believed that the remaining details will be completed so that the representatives of Russia and Japan will meet face to face to consider terms of peace. With the accomplishment of this result President Roosevelt will have done all in his power, but even so much will be a grand achievement in the cause of peace, as it will bring about an armistice between the great armies in Manchuria pending the conclusion of the negotiations. The success of President Roosevelt's efforts has made a profound impression upon European opinion, greatly enhancing American prestige. This sentiment of appreciation extends through all classes, and the effect will be lasting.

Promise of Bountiful Crops.

The government crop report for June indicated that the depreciation in the condition of winter wheat during the month of May was larger than the estimates of unofficial experts in the trade, but allowing for the backwardness of the season and assuming that no serious damage will occur during the current month, the promise is for a yield that has been exceeded but once in our history. The total acreage is estimated at 47,300,000 acres, which is an increase of 3,261,000 acres over the amount harvested last year. The relatively high price of wheat which has been maintained for more than a year no doubt had something to do with this increase in acreage, which foreshadows a harvest at least 175,000,000 bushels larger than in 1904.

For the next three or four weeks the attention of the business world will turn from scandals in high finance and maneuvers in Manchuria to the weather map. Winter wheat harvesting has already begun and will be completed by the end of June, but the month is the critical period in the spring-wheat belt. No one can estimate the full effects of an increase of 175,000,000 bushels in our yield of wheat. We do know, however, that 1901 marked the high-tide of prosperity in the United States, and it was in that year that we harvested our record wheat crop. One of the first effects of a bountiful yield will probably be the recovery of our export trade in breadstuffs, which has fallen to the lowest total in years. This in turn will have an important bearing upon our foreign exchanges, favorably influencing the domestic money markets. With easy money and the buying power of the agricultural classes increased, industrial affairs will experience a stimulus. Much is dependent upon the crops, and it is encouraging to have the official assurance that the promise is second only to the best on record.

The Supply of Gold.

A dispatch from London states that the output of the gold mines of the Rand for May was 416,395 ounces, which may be roughly calculated as worth $8,300,000, or at the rate approximately of $100,000,000 a year. This is the largest monthly output since the beginning of the Boer war, and it is believed that the maximum monthly output will be reached before the end of the current year. In August, 1899, two months before the outbreak of hostilities, the Rand mines produced 459,700 ounces of gold, valued at $9,194,000. Before the end of that year the production fell to a rate of a million dollars a month. It was feared that the abrupt shutting off of the largest source of gold supply would have a disturbing effect upon the world's money markets, and it is a fact that the rate of discount in London averaged higher than for years, while there was a corresponding decline in security values, English consols, always regarded as the premier investment, falling to the lowest price in a generation.

The effects of the restoration of the South African gold supply becomes an interesting problem. Bankers estimate that every dollar of gold will sustain four dollars of credit currency, and on this basis the Rand mines are now providing for an increase in banking credits at the rate of $33,300,000 a month, or nearly $400,000,000 a year. This increase is simultaneous with an increase in the output of the gold camps of the United States, and the world's production of the precious metal this year promises to surpass all previous totals.

A Russian Assembly.

The Russian government is apparently going to fulfill the promise of parliamentary representation. Czar Nicholas has approved the proclamation for an assembly of two houses, members of the lower to be elected during the coming summer. The upper house will be the council of ministers practically as now constituted. The parliament will have power to suggest measures, to interpellate ministers, etc., but to the czar is reserved the final authority to veto, or enforce enactments of the assembly.

To Russia this concession will appear revolutionary and extremely liberal. In reality it is more the form than the substance of representative government. The czar retains autocratic powers, but at least there will be a channel for the constitutional expression of grievances, and thus the proceedings of the assembly will influence the course of the government. The mass of the people do not object to the czar's autocratic powers, but to the use made of them by the bureaucracy, and it will be a great advance even if the establishment of the assembly does nothing more than provide the means of direct communication with the czar. Representative institutions embodying the rule of public opinion grew up from just such small beginnings, and by gradual development led to the establishment of self-government.

World's Speed Records.

Initial runs of the Pennsylvania specials were made within scheduled time, and as a result of the experimental speeding there is talk of reducing the time between New York and Chicago to 16 hours. This reduction would be possible. One of the trains covered a division yesterday morning at a speed of 127 miles an hour, beating the world's best speed record. Single miles were covered in 28 1-3 to 35 seconds, better time than had ever been made previously. These figures are of intense interest to railroad men, and they will readily recognize the fact that such speed would be dangerous on any but first-class roadbed, with perfect equipment.

These fast trains, together with the shortening of the time of others, will greatly improve the passenger service of Pittsburgh, east and west. They bring New York, Philadelphia and Chicago much nearer than formerly. Yet their greatest significance to this city is not their actual service, but the indication they afford of vastly better freight facilities. When the Pennsylvania system undertook to run these trains between New York and Chicago in 20 hours, it found the task possible only by seriously interfering with the movement of freight. They were taken off, pending increase of facilities, especially in the Pittsburgh district. They are now started again at a faster pace and run through without conflict with slow traffic, though the latter has increased in volume. That is why Pittsburgh watches them with so much interested approval.

The Limits of Free Delivery.

The strides made by the free delivery system in the postoffice department have been so rapid that one can hardly realize that rural mail carriers cost the country $8,000,000 more than those who deliver in the cities, while the contrast in the patrons is shown by the fact that city blocks contain as many as 5,200 letter writers, while there are many rural routes with less than 100 patrons who have comparatively little mail matter. In spite of the rapid extension of routes it is said that the practical limit will be reached in 1910, when all possible routes sufficiently populated will be occupied. In the meantime there will be an increase in population, but this will not require such a rapid rate in establishing new routes, for the country population will have been practically provided for.

When the first estimates were made it was calculated that 1,000,000 square miles of country patrons could be served. Already carriers cover 700,000 square miles. There are now over 30,000 rural carriers and about 18,000 more will be needed. With the probable increase in their salaries it is expected that the rural free delivey will cost the govenment at least $60,000,000 a year. That this expenditure will not pay in actual returns is acknowledged, but it has been proved that a rapid increase in mail matter has resulted. The returns that cannot be estimated in dollars and cents will be the advance in civilization by the closer union between the urban and suburban population. Keeping pace with the telephone, and sometimes with the trolley car, rural free delivery routes will help obliterate the boundary marks of the city. Methods of trade will be adjusted to the new conditions, mail orders being greatly increased through the facilities offered by the government.

Members of the National Editorial association were fed on the meat of an ancient buffalo at a picnic in Oklahoma territory recently. Editors ought to be used to tough propositions, however.

That duel in Kansas City recently was evidently not of French extraction. The names of the participants were Dugan and Schneider.

It occurs to us that even the most beautiful analogies fall to the ground sometimes. The other Bonaparte was a silent man.

There are enough politicl and official cocinesses floating around to enhance Pittsburgh's value as a summer resort.

Between fighting it out with the Japanese and going to report most of the Russian generals prefer the former.

Perhaps if the czar would follow the example of James Hazen Hyde another war might be brought to a close.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

These are the things I prize
And hold of dearest worth:
Light of the sapphire skies,
Peace of the silent hills,
Shelter of forests, comfort of the grass,
Music of birds, murmur of little rills,
Shadow of clouds that swiftly pass,
And, after showers,
The smell of flowers,
And of the good brown earth—
And best of all along the way, friendship and mirth.

—Dr. Van Dyke.

These are not the sentiments of poets only, but of all, yet all do not know it, do not realize that they prize them.

Do you, when out in the country, stop and admire the woods, the fields and the skies? To do so when in company with some people you are likely to get laughed at.

Most people are inclined to pay more attention to clouds than to sky, because clouds are more apt to interfere with their pleasures and personal interests.

It is that which appeals most to the personal interest of the average man that attracts his attention most, even though the interest be purely selfish.

It is well for us that there are poets and other artists, else we would forget the beautiful and the sentimental.

Seeing that we are so sentimental, is it not strange that we do so many things that are detrimental to our personal interests? It would be more reasonable for us to act in such manner as to advance or protect our interests than to do that which works against them.

Every man knows that it is not only detrimental to his interests to drink liquor, but positively ruinous. Boys know that cigarettes will ruin them in mind and body, yet in spite of this they continue the habit until they find themselves wrecked.

Speaking of cigarettes, how many do you smoke in a day? Have you ever figured up the number that you smoke in a year?

An inquiry made by students of Ohio State university as to how many cigarettes the ordinary smoker will consume in a year has developed the fact that ten students, none of them regarded as unusual fiends, smoke 25,000 in the college year of eight and a half months. The investigators were surprised at the total. Generally speaking, each of the students smokes a package of ten cigarettes a day, and the total of the ten for a full year of 365 days would be 36,500.

President David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford university, after many years' experience, says: "Boys who smoke cigarettes are like wormy apples. They drop long before harvest time. They rarely make failures in after life because they do not have any after life. The boy who begins smoking before his fifteenth year never enters the life of the world. When the other boys are taking hold of the world's work, he is concerned with the sexton and undertaker."

Isn't it strange that men and women, young and old, rich and poor, walk right into misery, suffering and death itself, with their eyes open?

Scarcely any one ever goes wrong without knowing it all the time, or do not know the course they are following leads to the bad. They may not mean to do wrong, nor even expect to do so, yet they know that others who have done as they are doing have ended badly.

Don't you know that you are doing wrong things, or doing things wrong? Are you not doing things which you would advise a friend not to do? And are you not doing that which you would not have you parents or friends know about?

Why do you do these?

You may think you can do them for a while and then stop and be none the worse.

This is what every drunkard, every opium fiend, every embezzler and every gambler has thought. In fact, such has been the thought and feeling of everyone who has gone wrong.

Be sure of this, that no one can do wrong, or think wrong, without suffering from it, for wrong is as certain to leave its mark on the mind, the heart and the soul as a blaze is to leave its mark on whatever it touches, particularly if the object is delicate, fair or sensitive.

Seeing that it is so much easier, so much more profitable, and so much more satisfactory to do right than to do wrong, or even to neglect to do right, is it not strange that so many should go wrong?

This is all the more astonishing when we note the intelligence, the education and the culture of those who are not living right. To say these do not know they are doing wrong is to grossly insult their intelligence and culture.

You may object to the use of the word culture in this connection, but it is used advisedly. And if you will stop a moment and think it over you will be able to recall the fact that the greatest rascal, cheat or fraud you ever knew, or ever heard of, was highly educated.

Culture is an essential part of the outfit of a rascal. To be a successful rascal he must be able to interest cultured people, to worm himself into their confidence, and to make them his friends.

The coarse, brutal rascal is a villain. He gains his ends by terrorizing the weak and timid, instead of deceiving them into believing him to be a gentleman and a worthy friend.

All of these know they are not doing right, and the greater the wrong they do the more complete is their breakdown when found out. And in many instances, no doubt, the wrongdoer fully realizes for the first time the enormity of his offense when he is suddenly arrested in his carrer of wrong doing. Then it is that he most heartily wishes that he had lived as he knew how.

Don't you know how to live better than you are living?

If so, don't you know what is going to happen to you? Haven't you read what the Master said was coming to those who know their duties and do them not? Look it up in the Sermon on the Mount, read it carefully, and then think it over.

You do not like to be called a fraud, but that is just what you are if you are not living up to your knowledge as to what is right and proper for you to do.

Yes, sir, a fraud or a hypocrite, either of which is sufficient to bar you from heaven forever.

Neither a fraud nor a hypocrite can breathe the air of heaven; nor can any one who is dishonest, corrupt or inhuman.

Thus you see it is no fault on the part of God that such as these are kept out of heaven. He made it for the just, the true and the loving; but the atmosphere in which these live in greatest comfort is so unsuited to the imperfect, the false and the unloving that they can no more live in it than can those live on mountain heights who were reared in the deep vales below.

If you are living in moral lowlands now you may accustom yourself to the atmosphere of the highlands by constantly seeking and occupying higher places through the remainder of your life. This is not only possible, but it is easy to do, and you will find it most profitable, for life becomes more enjoyable the higher you ascend along moral planes.

Try it, and see if it doesn't pay.

Perkins Has Kept Silent.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 13.—According to the testimony of his wife, Anna, John R. Fowler of Coney Island is a bad cook and a worse housekeeper. Anna swore before Magistrate Voorhees, in the Coney Island police court, that she had to suffer from the culinary incompetence of her spouse as well as his imperfect knowledge and lax attention to things domestic. Mrs. Fowler claimed that Mr. Fowler was not a generous contributor to the common funds, and that in essaying to be the cook of the family while she worked outside he half starved her. Mr. Fowler denies his wife's charges. He said the whole cause of their trouble grew out of his wife's selfishness in taking a turkey to bed with her last Christmas eve and sleeping with it unknown to him. The turkey was designed as the basis for a luscious Christmas dinner for herself and children, to his exclusion, he said. He produced a dairy in which from day to day since the couple have failed to be harmonious he had recorded some of his alleged sufferings at the hands of his spouse. A few of these entries read:

"Anna took turkey to bed with her; hid it under the bedclothes; sneaked it out in the morning and cooked it without letting me know.

"Came home sober; had a dispute about money; Anna poured cold chowder down my neck, spoiling my working coat and linen.

"Came home sober. Anna swiped me with a ham bone left from dinner; the swipe was all the ham I got.

"Asked Anna if she was going to give me breakfast. She told me to go out and take a look at the ocean."

Mrs. Fowler, in urging John to be bound over to pay her a weekly sum for the support of herself and her five children, claimed that her husband was given to habitual intemperance. She admitted that the items about the chowder, the ham bone and the turkey were substantially true, as related in her husband's diary. Judge Voorhees, after a lengthy hearing, frequently interrupted by the laughter of spectators, dismissed the husband. This court hearing was the sixteenth the couple have had since Christmas.

Goes Hungry to Aid Church.

Back of a suit brought by Henry Meyer, a coal dealer, against Rev. G. J. M. Ketner, of the Lutheran Church of the Reformation, which was settled out of court as a result of Judge Tierney's good offices, is a story of a minister's struggles and privations to pay a church debt for his flock. Although the congregation owes Mr. Ketner something like $5,100 in back salary, he has sacrificed his own comfort and that of his family to raise money to finish a church at Jennings street and Wellkins place, the Bronx. Mr. Meyer lent the church $875 to complete its edifice, begun in 1902, and when all but $50 had been repaid he sued for the remainder.

"Many times have I gone hungry that my church should not suffer through the need of money," said Mr. Ketner in the Bronx municipal court. "I have turned into the church even fees for marriages, funerals and other ministerial services given me for my personal use."

New Use for Telephone.

"Telephone's a great thing, isn't it?" remarked Dunbar Johnston, choirmaster of the old John Street Methodist Episcopal church, as he emerged, perspiring, from a booth where he had been closeted for nearly an hour. "I've just engaged a soprano soloist for a church entertainment on the strength of her singing some music over the 'phone. I requested over the telephone that she give me some idea of what she could sing for us. She responded by naming a number of quasi-classic pieces and transcriptions. Of this number there was one of the same title as a composition by Gounod, with which I was familiar. The music to this, however, was by another composer. I requested the singer to hum the tune. Instead, she burst forth into the melody just as though there was a large audience to please. This was followed by several other selections, and before I realized it we had framed quite a program and I had engaged the singer."

"Pully" Strong Is Bankrupt.

It might seem to some that Putnam Bradlee Strong, an actor and husband of May Yohe, feared his dramatic venture would not be a success, especially on the road, as today, in a petition in bankruptcy filed by him, he gives among his assets 10 pairs of shoes. The petition states that the liabilities are $1,068, and the assets $100, consisting of the shoes referred to, six suits of clothes and five hats. Strong and his wife have been rated as receiving upward of $750 a week for their recent performance in New York.

To Fly Around Liberty.

From the aerodrome on the Boer war spectacle grounds at Brighton Beach to the coiffure of Bartholdi's statue of Liberty on Bedloes island in the upper bay, and then back to Brighton Beach in an airship in less than an hour—such is the feat which A. Roy Knabenshue, an aeronaut, whose feats have rivaled those of Santos Dumont, intends to execute next Wednesday afternoon. The aeronaut is confident the trip to the statue and back again to Brighton Beach can be made in less than an hour. If his calculations are correct, he will maintain a speed of 30 miles an hour. Of course he must figure accurately on the velocity of the wind and its direction. The condition of the atmosphere will also have to be considered and allowance made for the sun's rays.

Heart Disease Is Latest Scourge.

Heart disease, according to the health department, was largely responsible for a large increase in the city's death rate for the week ended Saturday last. In the week there were 123 deaths from this cause, as against 58 in the corresponding week in 1904. This made the death rate last week 17.73, while for the corresponding week a year ago it was only 16.61. The other chief causes of mortality during the week were cerebro spinal meningitis 57, pneumonia 166 and tuberculosis 167.

Making the Best of It.

MONTE CARLO LOSSES

How the Famous Institution Is Defrauded.

"The man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo" has an actual existence. A recent article in "T. P.'s Weekly" of London tells how it was done. The prime mover in the plot was the magnificent "swell-mobsman" Ardisson, who had successfully worked nearly every pleasure resort on the continent; and who now, for the first time, turned his attention to the seemingly unassailable fortress of wealth by the Tideless Sea. Ardisson, it seems, "spied out the land" at Monte Carlo a month or more before he attempted operations; and, clad in an unassuming disguise, made a particular study of the gaming tables and methods of play. Like many wise folks before and since, he came to the conclusion that roulette was unworthy of his attentions. Its companion game, trente-et-quarante, gave him, however, some food for thought. It was played with cards; it was non-mechanical; the "personal equation" entered into its procedure; and finally, the stakes were high. In trente-et-quarante, then, he saw his opening.

Entrance of the Plotters.

Vanishing for a space from the neighborhood of his blissfully ignorant victims, he returned eventually, accompanied by a friend of his own sex (and profession) and a couple of beautiful and well-dressed ladies. The party ranged themselves two on each side of the trente-et-quarante board; and while the croupier was shuffling the cards preparatory to starting a fresh set of deals, the lady on one side engaged the umpire in ingenuous chat—asking explanations of how the game was played, and so forth—while she on the other requested umpire number two to supply her with gold change for a banknote. At the precise instant when the croupier was ready to begin one of the ladies dropped fifty louis on the floor, where they rolled noisily hither and thither, creating a most unseemly diversion, and attracting all eyes from the cloth. Attendants gathered up her gold; whereupon the game proceeded. And, to cut a long story short, whichever way the quartet stake (and they have the finesse to vary their staking more than once), they win. After eight coups they retire, carrying with them 180,000 francs of the bank's money. At the door of the Casino a smart carriage awaits them, and in five minutes they are whirled across the frontier.

How the Cards Were Stacked.

The secret of M. Ardisson's staggering success only transpired when too late. Horrified at the loss to the bank which the eight abnormal coups had caused, the umpires ordered the cards to be examined. There were too many in the pack. The croupier had been bribed to insert a specially shuffled slab of cards at a given signal; and the disturbance caused by the fall of madame's gold pieces had drawn all eyes from his deed. Two months' imprisonment was his sentence: a period of discomfort he could afford to disregard, when weighed against his personal profits. It is more than improbable than there will ever be another Ardisson. It is quite certain that there will never be another Jaggers. Jaggers is the only Britisher who figures at all outstandingly in the annals of Monte Carlo. He was a Yorkshireman; and after weeks of watching and record-keeping he discovered that one of the roulette wheels had a bias toward a certain number. He and his assistants persistently backed that number, and with the aid of a large capital contrived to make a substantial income. The trick was eventually detected by Casino inspectors, and nowadays the wheels are not only very perfectly constructed, but their parts are interchangeable, so that even if there exists a bias in any wheel it shifts from number to number daily.

A Bomb to Extinguish the Lights.

A bomb arranged to explode in the gas-meter cellar of the Casino and extinguish the lights formed the crux of another carefully screwed attempt to rob the tables. These are now illuminated with enormous six-burnered oil lamps, as well as electricity; so that plan would be futile. Thousands of false counters—in the day when counters were played with, instead of coin—are another disagreeable memory for the Blanc heirs. The counters were, many of them, redeemed; but never again will a croupier accept anything but solid metal and notes. Of false money there has, of course, been plenty; but that (it is perhaps not unfair to hint) is as easy to foist on the player as on the bank—if not easier. Even the paper-wrapped "rouleaux" of five-louis pieces ("plaques") must be torn open nowadays when placed on the cloth. "Chance," says Professor Karl Pearson, "is not scientifically chance, unless the improbable happens in due proportion." The improbable, at Monte Carlo, is that a player should abstract money from the bank's coffers; and it is safe to assert that this event does not "happen in due proportion." From which it is evident that neither roulette nor trente-et-quarante are true games of chance.

THE EXPOSITION POEM.

Written in Competition for the Oregon Fair.

The winner of the prize of $100 for the best ballad on "The Trail" at the Lewis and Clark exposition, turns out to be a woman, Mrs. A. A. Lindsley, who for a year past has resided in Portland. Mrs. Lindsley is the wife of a former state treasurer of Washington. She is a graduate of Michigan university at Ann Arbor.

Nearly 400 writers of verse throughout the country competed for the prize. The fitness of the name "The Trail" for the amusement street of the exposition lies in its application to the famous old Oregon trail, and "hitting the trail" has become a familiar expression at the fair.

Mrs. Lindsley's poem is considered peculiarly fitting for the purpose, as it brings out in strong, snappy language the lilt and swing of the rider "hitting the trail" to the westward, shows forth the development brought about by the pioneers and gives due honor to Lewis and Clark. The winning poem follows:

THE TRAIL.

The call comes, strong and insistent,
Out of the west—oh, hark!
"Follow through hail and sun the trail
Blazed by Lewis and Clark!"

On with the blanket and saddle,
Ride like the devil possessed,
Swift on the way by night and day,
Hit the trail to the west!

Sting of the wind in our faces,
Crunching of hoofs on sand—
Whate'er betide, pause not, but ride
Straight to the promised land.

Whiteness of sails on the ocean,
Gleaming of gold in the hills,
Glory of grain on the harvest wain,
Curling of smoke from the mills.

Off with the saddle and blanket,
Kindle our hearthfires' spark—
Here's all hail to the westward trail
Blazed by Lewis and Clark!

IT IS TO SMILE.

He—Why, there's Mrs. Gotcash in a new gown. Do look!

She—No, indeed I won't. Whenever I have a new gown she either pretends not to notice it or else she asks me if it's the same one I wore last year.—Judy.

Her Friend—Yes, my ancestors moved in the best colonial circles. They were Tories, you know.

The Colonial Dame—Yes? Then, I dare say, my ancestors helped to keep them moving.—Puck.

INCIDENTS

What the Sun Aroused.

About 27 years ago the late James G. Blaine was invited to dine in a certain city in Eastern Maine where he happened to be on business. His host had recently married a second wife, more noted for her beauty and wealth than for intelligence. It was near the middle of March, and a storm was coming on, which, the husband remarked, would probably be the equinoctial gale.

"What do you mean by that? Is it the same as the fine gale?" she asked.

The husband replied in the affirmative and, in reply to further questions, told her it was usual to expect a storm twice a year, when the sun crossed the equinox.

"That day at dinner," said Mr. Blaine, "I remarked upon the severity of the storm, and my hostess, with an engaging smile, replied: 'Yes, Mr. Blaine, isn't it singular that we always have such a fearful storm whenever the sun crosses the Penobscot?' Before I could frame a reply, my host, in a tone of mild surprise, exclaimed, 'You don't mean Penobscot, dear,' and she at once said, 'Oh, no; how stupid of me! I meant the Androscoggin.'"—Boston Herald.

Saving Trouble.

Bradley Martin, Jr., described at a dinner party on eccentric Scottish keeper in his employ.

"This keeper," he said, "was once guiding a shooting party that hunted up near the top of a steep and high mountain. Suddenly, when they had reached a great height, one of the beaters gave a loud yell and seized himself by the back of the neck. Through his interlocked white fingers bright blood oozed. The man had been peppered with stray shot in the nape.

"The keeper, seeing the blood and thinking the accident much worse than it really was, bawled out excitedly:

"'Run, Dugald! Run down the hill! Heaven only knows how far we'll have to carry ye.'"—San Antonio Express.

Waking Up Clancy.

Gen. Frederick Grant tells how, at a certain military post in the west, one night, just after the sounding of "taps," a detail was called for from one of the companies to bring from the married quarters to the guardhouse a private who had been beating his wife. First Sergt. Mulligan called for Corporal Needham and Privates Clancy and Moore to form the detail. The corporal and private at once got up from their cots and dressed for duty, but apparently Clancy was fast asleep, although but a moment before the appearance of the sergeant he had been animatedly conversing with his fellow soldiers. "Come, Clancy," said the sergeant, poking him in the ribs, "get up." Whereupon the Celt, in great disgust, arose, exclaiming as he did so, "Why don't ye wake some wan that ain't asleep?"—Kansas City Journal.

The Best Tip.

Melville E. Ingalls, former president of the Big Four railway system, who was recently at the Waldorf-Astoria, tells this story of a waiter's tip:

"I was lunching alone in a Cincinnati hotel not long ago. A man who sat at a small table close to me casually asked his waiter how business was.

"'Oh,' replied the garcon, bravely 'the house is doing a good business, all right, sir, but there's nothing doin' for us what does the waitin'.'

"'Indeed? Well, I'm sorry to hear things are not coming your way,' said the other. 'Personally I have always treated your craft in this house generously, and I can say the same for many others I know who come here.'

"Nothing more was said on the subject until the diner, who I could see was somewhat nettled, got up to leave. Turning to the waiter, who was right at hand and no doubt expecting something 'generous,' after his plain hint, the diner patted him gently on the shoulder and said to him:

"'My friend, you seem to be discontented with your lot, and for that I'm going to give you the best tip you ever got—get into some other business.'"—New York Globe.

Teaching Children to Be Familiar.

Prof. John Dewey, head of the department of psychology of Columbia university, believes children should be taught to call their parents by their Christian names. Prof. Dewey was formerly a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan, where they tell this story:

The professor was working in his study one day when water begin to trickle through the ceiling. He ran upstairs to see what was the matter and found his young hopeful in the bath room with the floor flooded. Prof. Dewey was about to express his feelings, when the youngster piped out:

"Don't say a word, John, but get a mop."—New York Sun.

Patch Long Enough.

A Virginian whose home adjoined the early one of Thomas Nelson Page tells this story of the author's father. The family, like many other southern ones, was much impoverished by the war, though the old-time hospitality was as warm as ever. One day guests were expected upon whom Mrs. Page wished to make a good impression, and the furniture and fittings were furbished for the occasion. The good dame's heart was much disturbed by the worn condition of the upholstery of a rare old sofa, and she petitioned her husband to stand before it when receiving the visitors, and then sit carefully over the ragged spot. With fine chivalry Mr. Page greeted the arrivals and discoursed entertainingly until the neighing of his favorite horse attracted his attention, as a stable boy led it past the window. Then rising, he said to the guests, "Will you excuse me for a short time?" and to his wife, "My dear, I really cannot act any longer as a patch for that sofa."—New York Times.

Our Arid Land.

There are 600,000,000 acres or 900,000 square miles of arid land in the United States, which is not far from a third of the area of the contiguous portion of the country. About 10,000,000 acres have been reclaimed at one time and another by private enterprise. It is estimated that 600,000 square miles, or two-thirds of the aggregate, can be made fit for cultivation. This is 12 times the area of the state of New York, and would be capable of supporting at least 20,000,000 of people. All this barren tract is west of Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Arkansas.—Leslie's Weekly.

AGAIN IS SOUTH SIDE LEFT OUT

Bigelow Asks $3,500,000 for Hump Removal and to Enlarge Big Parks.

BOND BILLS TO BE RUSHED

Two millions for the removal of the hump; $1,500,000 for the purchase of more land for Schenley and Highland parks; nothing to give the South Side a water supply.

Director Bigelow's two ordinances for the bond election on July 25 were introduced in common council last night. Neither ordinance contains any provision to purchase the Monongahela water plant of the South Side, although the administration has promised this to South Siders for a year past. The failure of Director Bigelow to make any provision for the purchase of the South Side waterworks is taken by those interested to be the best evidence that nothing of the kind is contemplated under the present administration because the bond election is to take place on July 25 and there remains only two weeks in which the ordinances can be approved by the finance committee and passed by both branches of councils before the proclamation of the mayor, which must be issued at least 30 days before election.

The proposition to ask the taxpayers of the whole city to pay for the removal of the hump and to buy property for parks, with the South Side left without any provision for a water supply, has excited the ire of South Side councilmen.

South Siders Angry.

"Eddie must be getting headstrong," said Select Councilman J. W. Ruhlandt of the Twenty-sixth ward. "Bigelow's park scheme will certainly kill the hump project. Years ago, when Bigelow was always buying more land for Schenley and Highland parks, we often told him he was too enthusiastic on parks."

"The people will not stand for it," said Common Councilman John F. Semmelrock of the Twenty-sixth ward. Mr. Semmelrock called upon Director Bigelow a few days ago and was assured by the director that no steps would be taken to purchase the South Side water plant at once, and that a bond issue for both projects would be submitted to the people at the same time. A year ago when Director Bigelow asked councils to authorize a bond issue of $5,000,000 for filtration and $2,000,000 for the removal of the hump, Mr. Semmelrock tried in vain to secure an appropriation of $2,500,000 in the bond issue for the purchase of the South Side plant.

Did Not Consult Hays.

Mayor Hays declared against Bigelow's park project yesterday, saying he had not been consulted by Bigelow. The mayor, other officials of the administration and councilmen generally expressed the opinion that Director Bigelow had made a grievous mistake in attaching the park project to the bond issue, and declared that if both propositions are submitted to the people they will be badly defeated.

Director Bigelow proposes to spend the entire $1,500,000 in enlarging Schenley and Highland parks, although Schenley now contains 422 acres and Highland over 398 acres. Members of councils are being led to believe, however, that a part of the money will be distributed through the city for the establishment of small parks in their respective wards. The policy of Director Bigelow has long been understood to be opposed to the small parks and in favor of the enlargement of the big parks, which have always been his especial care.

Bole Has Park.

"I am interested in a 12-acre plot in the Nineteenth ward which I have urged Director Bigelow to buy for a park," said Councilman D. J. Bole, a Citizens councilman of the Nineteenth ward, last night. "I picked out this land and called Director Bigelow's attention to it and he has secured options on nearly all of the property."

The director proposes to buy the 11-acre tract owned by the Schenley estate, at Forbes and Bouquet streets, for a new entrance to Schenley park. Adjacent to this tract is a large plot which, it is stated, is being held for speculative purposes in the expectation that it will be purchased for an addition to Schenley park. The director declares his intention of buying 100 acres to add to Highland park, securing all the land lying between Heberton avenue and the park on the upper side of the Stanton avenue boulevard.

A new entrance is to be built at Heberton and Stanton avenues to be adorned by two large bronze peacocks, donated by Alexander R. Peacock, so it is stated. A traction line is to be built along Stanton avenue into the park, the Pittsburgh Railways Company already having a franchise for the road.

Bills to Be Rushed.

A meeting of the finance committee of councils will probably be held on Friday to approve the two bond ordinances introduced last night and another meeting of common council held on next Monday to receive and take action on the report of the committee. After the bills go through common council select will be called to act.

Both ordinances provide for a rate of interest on the bonds not exceeding 4 per cent. The hump ordinance provides for the regrading of Fifth avenue, and connecting streets and alleys, from Smithfield to Tunnel street, but does not specify any other streets in the hump district to be regraded, thus leaving open again to suspicion that the appropriation of $2,000,000 is only the beginning of the expense required by the improvement. There is no provision for damages to property, or for assessments upon abutting property for benefits.

The park ordinance provides merely that $1,500,000 is to be used for the purchase of park land. No particular section of the city is mentioned and it is optional with the city administration how the money shall be spent.

New Second Avenue Repealer.

A large number of bills from the finance, public works and surveys committees were passed last night, but among them were few of any consequence. The ordinance leasing the market house for a period of 99 years was indefinitely postponed. Similar action was taken on the ordinance vacating a 9-foot strip of land in Forty-second street.

Several important new bills were presented. One is a new repealer of the widening of Second avenue. A former repealer had been indefinitely postponed by common council last October, but the body suspended the rules last night and permitted the new ordinance to be sent to the public works committee.

An ordinance was introduced for the relocation of Second avenue, Twenty-third ward, from Allegheny street to the city line, a distance of about a mile and a half. The plan of the city is to exchange highways with the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, the city to change the course of Second avenue 50 feet toward the hillside and the railroad company to transfer its tracks, now between the hill and Second avenue, to the other side of Second avenue, along the river front.

Changes in Hazelwood.

A bill was introduced for the widening of Johnson street from Second avenue to one block east of Mansion street, Twenty-third ward, the street to be widened from 50 to 60 feet. A bill was presented to let a contract to erect street signs, at a cost of $5,000, and another measure was introduced to let a contract for an asphalt repair plant, the cost being increased from $6,000 to $15,000.

The resolution authorizing the employment of the city auditor to collect special revenues from corporations and granting the auditor a compensation of $1,500 a year in addition to the salary of $7 per day that he now receives, was passed.

The death of J. H. Bryant, one of the four members from the Thirty-ninth ward, formerly the borough of Elliott, was announced and an appropriate resolution adopted. The chair announced that the remaining three members from the ward would be accorded one-third of a vote.

The bill granting the consent of Pittsburgh to the annexation of the borough of Darlen was passed; also the ordinance for the employment of an examining physician and resident clerk in the department of charities.

Brief Session of Select.

Select council had a session only about 15 minutes long yesterday afternoon. Not a single new bill was presented and the only business transacted was an ordinance reported affirmatively from the charities committee creating the position of an examining physician in the department of charities at a salary of $50 per month, and three ordinances for the vacations of streets and alleys in the Thirty-fifth ward.

The ordinance for examining physician is intended to double the salary now paid the first district physician of the city, whose duty it is to examine applicants for the city poor farm at Marshalsea. As district physician he now receives $50 per month, and the ordinance adds $50 to this compensation, because he is said to have many more persons to examine than the other district physicians.

The ordinance was opposed by Dr. W. H. Weber, select councilman from the Twenty-ninth ward. The bill was passed finally by a vote of 21 to 3. Ordinances were passed for the vacation of a portion of Spring alley, Hagan alley and Othello street, in a plan of lots in the Thirty-fifth ward.

IS A CLEVER FORGERY.

Watchman Finds Check for Large Amount in Oliver Avenue, but It Is Bogus.

On Decoration day a watchman guarding the sewer excavation in Oliver avenue picked up in that street a check reading as follows:

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 29, 1905. (No. 14.)
Pittsburgh Bank for Savings.
Pay to the order of Mark Finkhauser....$450.
Four hundred and thirty dollars.
(Signed.) R. H. SCOTT.

The watchman turned it over to one of the attaches of The Gazette office and an advertisement was placed in these columns calling the attention of those interested to their loss and the finding of the same. Yesterday, with the assistance of the bank officials, R. H. Scott, who appeared to be the maker of the check, was found, and he at once declared it to be a very clever forgery. Mr. Scott is a bricklayer, living at 419 Third avenue, Homestead, and has been ill for some time. He has no idea who the forger is. He has had an account with the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings for the past seven years, and the bank officials say they would have at once detected the forgery by reason of the low number of the check, if by no other signs.

More Trouble for Cohen.

J. D. Edwards yesterday made information before Magistrate Moke charging M. Cohen, a clerk at 932 Liberty street, with the larceny of a draft for $27.50 and 57 cents cash. Cohen is the man who was arrested by Mrs. J. D. Edwards one day last week and conducted to the Central police station, where the woman charged him with appropriating her pocketbook, which, she said, she had left in the store in which he is employed.

HERBERT AND SHUPE ARE NOMINATED CANDIDATES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, June 12.—The return judges of the Democratic primaries held in Westmoreland county Saturday afternoon tabulated the returns this afternoon and R. W. Herbert and D. A. Shupe were nominated as the candidates for commissioner.

The Herbert followers insisted upon the enforcement of the rule governing Democratic primaries, which provides that no candidates shall be allowed more votes in any precinct than were cast for the Democratic candidate at the last preceding presidential election. The enforcement of this rule lost to Herbert about 1,800 votes and might have endangered his nomination. The greatest loss by the enforcement of the rule fell upon Herbert. Shupe lost about 300 and the other candidates lost from 100 and 200. The nominees for poor director are R. N. Gay, Herman Hamel and Henry Somers, the latter winning in the last hour of the count, beating John Hayden by a few votes.

BEAVER, June 12.—County Democratic Chairman H. H. Wilson today issued a call for the election of delegates to the Democratic county convention, and a call for the convention to be held July 3 to nominate candidates for president judge, register and recorder, treasurer, clerk of courts, sheriff, two for county commissioner, coroner and two for auditor. With the call comes the announcement of the following candidates: For county commissioner, W. W. Shields, John Black, John P. Corcoran, Albert W. Knauff and Samuel E. Critchlow; for register and recorder, Dr. William Raymer; for sheriff, J. Scott Groscott; for auditor, Frank Thompson.

"SPOOKS" ACTIVE ON GREENE COUNTY FARM

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., June 12.—Families living in the vicinity of Deer Lick in Greene county, are excited over peculiar happenings attributed to "spooks," on the farm of James Moninger.

Last Thursday Moninger's garden was visited and vegetables were dug up and laid in piles in the garden. The visit was made between daylight and 10 o'clock. No tracks were left. Another visit was made on Saturday, when flowers were removed from their beds and vegetables were taken away. Moninger asserts the work was done while he was near by and that he saw no one. Yesterday between 400 and 500 visited the place to investigate. While the house was filled with visitors doors were mysteriously opened and shut, two jars of milk were upset and articles in the house were moved about without any seeming aid. Flower plants, it is asserted, changed from one place to another, and later returned to their original beds unaided.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, June 12.—The advocacy by the Rev. J. W. Campbell, during his sermon last night at the First Methodist church, of the acceptance of a $40,000 library from Andrew Carnegie has been the sole topic of conversation here today.

Opinion upon the library question is greatly divided. When the offer was first made, about four years ago, councils rejected it for the alleged reason that it would not be good business policy to bind the city to annually pay one-tenth the sum donated by Carnegie to maintain the institution. However, this conclusion was in great measure affected by the very violent opposition expressed by the union men of the city to accepting the philanthropist's offer. The Rev. Mr. Campbell takes the stand that the expense is trifling per capita and that it will be the people of this community who are injured, and not Mr. Carnegie, if the city does not now accept, when another opportunity is given to secure the library gift.

The Rev. Mr. Campbell is widely known and was formerly chaplain of the Sixteenth Pennsylvania National Guard regiment.

STATE COLLEGE OBSERVES ITS SEMI-CENTENNIAL

Historic Address is Made by Gen. James A. Beaver—Athletes Compete With Carlisle Indians.

An historical address was made by General James A. Beaver. The speaker detailed how the college was started in 1855 as a farmers' high school with barely a score of students. The first class of 11 graduated in 1861. In 1874 the name was changed to Pennsylvania State college. This year there are close to 900 students while the graduating class numbers about 100.

Others who spoke at the morning meeting were Dr. A. H. Tuttle of the University of Virginia; Professor Alfred C. Smith, of Chicago; Dr. H. P. Armsby and Dr. C. C. Pong. At this afternoon's meeting addresses were made by Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, state superintendent of public instruction; Professor D. C. Jackson, of the University of Wisconsin; Professor John Hamilton of the United States department of agriculture, and Dr. William A. Buckhout. The rest of the afternoon was taken up with the dual track and field meet between students from State college and the Carlisle Indian school. This evening the Thespian club presented "The Boomerang."

The new dormitory, McAllister's hall, has been turned into a big hotel for the accommodation of visitors and although it accommodated 600 guests and has a dining-room with a capacity of 900, it is already crowded. The hotels and every fraternity house and private boarding house are filled.

HEINER IS ASKED FOR EXPLANATION

President Roosevelt Wants to Know About Enforcement of Pure Food Laws.

TO REPORT TO WHITE HOUSE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.

The investigation of the complaints made by Dr. Warren, dairy and food commissioner of Pennsylvania, is now being carried forward by order of the president, and Collector of Internal Revenue Heiner of Pittsburgh has been instructed to forward his explanation. Dr. Warren's complaint to President Roosevelt covered two points, one that Collector Heiner had refused to co-operate with the state authorities in enforcing the pure food laws, and the other that colored oleomargarine had been sold for use in the navy under the name of butter. The latter charge will be investigated by the proper officials of the navy department.

President Roosevelt instructed Internal Revenue Commissioner Yerkes to make an investigation of the charge that Collector Heiner had refused to help the state authorities enforce the law, and report to the White House. All the correspondence has been forwarded to Collector Heiner and he has been instructed to send in his explanation. He may come to Washington and make a personal statement to the commissioner and the president if he desires, but it is probable that a written statement will answer the purpose.

Neither Commissioner Yerkes or any of the officials of the treasury department will discuss the matter at this time. When all the facts are gathered they will be turned over to the president and then the course will be followed that he directs. It cannot be learned from the internal revenue officials whether it has been the custom previously for collectors to co-operate with the state authorities or not in enforcing the food laws, but from the experience of police officers and district attorneys in the enforcement of the liquor laws, it has evidently been the rule for the federal and state authorities to act independently.

TANCRED COMMANDERY TO HOLD A BIG FIELD DAY

Arrangements Being Completed for a Delightful Outing at Alliquippa Park Next Week.

The annual field day of Tancred commandery No. 48, Knights Templar, the only entertainment this body will have this summer, and which it is expected will be very largely attended, will be held at Alliquippa park, on the Lake Erie railroad, on Wednesday, June 21. The outing will be given under the auspices of the drill corps, but will be a commandery affair. The commandery has the exclusive use of the park for the entire day and will make the occasion a reunion as well as a field day. A new feature will be the athletic sports. A committee headed by George W. Gosser has this matter in charge and while the program has not been completed, it includes a ball game, races, tug of war, etc., and the successful contestants will be awarded suitable prizes. The sports will begin at 3 p. m.

Dancing will begin at 3 p. m. and continue until 10:30 o'clock. At 7:15 there will be a drill and review of the commandery on the baseball field of the park. This hour was selected to accommodate the people who leave the city on the later evening train. In addition to regular trains leaving the Lake Erie depot at 7:49 a. m., 12:55, 2:10, 4:30, 6:25 and 7:35 p. m., the committee has arranged for a special to leave at 5:40 p. m. This train, returning, will leave the park at 10:30 p. m. and run through to Braddock, stopping at Coraopolis, McKees Rocks, Pittsburgh and Homestead. All these trains leave on city time.

The general arrangements are in charge of the entertainment committee, consisting of James Little, chairman; William H. Davis, William M. Furey, Thomas Chester, George M. McCandless and George W. Gosser.

THREATEN TO KILL OFFICER.

Man, Whose Brother Was Killed, and His Friend Are Placed Under Arrest.

WASHINGTON, PA., June 12.—(Special.)—Ebbert Pounds, whose brother, John Pounds, while resisting arrest, was killed by Officer Kilgore of West Washington, was arrested today with his friend, Frank Bishop, and placed in the county jail. It is charged that Pounds and Bishop, armed with revolvers and shotguns, searched for the officer, swearing to kill him. They visited his house, terrorized his wife and neighbors and dared other officers to arrest them.

A warrant for their arrest was issued this morning and four officers went after them. Pounds and Bishop had to be clubbed before they were taken. Their friends say they will kill Officer Kilgore.

GERMANY IS PREPARED TO PROTECT MOROCCO

Her Representative Has Assured Sultan—Concessions Granted Which May Anger France.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, June 12.—A dispatch from Fez, Morocco, says:

"German friendship for Morocco has already been rewarded by several minor commercial concessions. This is regarded in diplomatic circles here as a precedent liable to create complications if other grants follow, because it would change the status quo and perhaps cause France to abandon her attitude of patience, thereby leading to a crisis.

"The sultan maintains his absolutely independent attitude while the Moorish officials regard Count von Tattenbach-Ashold, head of the German mission to Morocco, as a guardian angel. The count is credited with having made numberless statements, among them one in which he is alleged to have told the sultan that Germany was quite prepared to protect him against France.

"It is stated that the Moorish officials are reconciled to the possibility of the proposed international conference being finally vetoed by France and Great Britain, but they believe the proposition will be supported by other powers, and it is further stated that the sultan is prepared to indefinitely resist the proposals of the French government."

ANTI-LOTTERY LAWS MUST BE ENFORCED

Postmaster General Cortelyou Gives Instructions to All Postal Employes.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 12.—A thorough enforcement of the anti-lottery law is urged on all postmasters and all other postal employes in a general order promulgated today by Postmaster General Cortelyou. It calls on all employes to examine mail matter, especially publications, with the greatest care consistent with prompt transmission and delivery and to withdraw or exclude all such relating to lotteries and like enterprises. Many postmasters, the order adds, have been found negligent in this regard, as well as in the enforcement of fraud orders against lotteries in foreign countries.

The order says that the terms of the law bar "endless chain" enterprises, so-called "gift concerts" or similar enterprises offering prizes dependent on lot or chance, including "guessing" or "estimating" contests for prizes as well as drawings and raffles of every kind, whether general or local, for money or otherwise, for private gain or in the aid of charitable, educational or religious objects.

Publications, circulars, cards or pamphlets containing advertisement or other information relating to such enterprises are required to be withdrawn from the mails.

Judge Hall will render judgment tomorrow.

DESIRE TO COME UNDER OUR FLAG

Danish West Indians May Send Commission to Urge Sale to America.

QUESTION FOR NEXT CONGRESS

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

SAN JUAN, P. R., June 12.—There are numerous indications in St. Thomas that the question of the purchase of the Danish West Indies by the United States for the original price proposed, $7,000,000, may be brought before the next congress at Washington. Efforts are now being made in St. Thomas to send to Denmark a commission to urge the mother country no longer to refuse to permit St. Thomas, St. John and St. Croix to cast their lot under the Stars and Stripes.

The principal reason for this renewal of the project is the present abject poverty of the little group of islands to the east of Porto Rico, through their agricultural and commercial decline. Shipping has practically ceased, bay rum being now about the only export. Coaling, formerly important, has fallen to next to nothing, and now the Royal Mail steamers, it is reported, are about to cut St. Thomas from their list of ports of call.

Denmark has made every possible effort to reduce expenses in her West Indian possessions. Her little force of soldiers has been lessened, numerous government employes have been discharged and other economies practiced. Despite this paring there is still an annual deficit of $70,000, which is a burden to Denmark's finances.

As a naval base St. Thomas would be of even greater value to the United States than Porto Rico and infinitely superior to Culebra, because of a better harbor.

Fighting "Wide Tire" Ordinance.

TITUSVILLE, June 12.—(Special.)—Four arrests were made here today and fines ranging from $5 to $20 were imposed for violation of the new wide tire ordinance. The teamsters have organized to fight the ordinance and had Attorney Peter Spear of Oil City to defend those arrested. These men claim the city has no authority to regulate the width of tires used and previously secured an injunction in the court of common pleas. This was recently dissolved and they now propose to carry it to a higher tribunal.

THINK ARREST IMPORTANT ONE

BOY CAUSE OF HIS CAPTURE

By an arrest made yesterday through information furnished by a boy the police and the detectives believe that they have solved the mystery of a score of robberies that have been going on since the middle of May. Robert Gracey is the man arrested. He is a light-colored negro and he is alleged to have already been identified as the man who was seen going into two houses afterward found to have been robbed.

The robberies were all done in daylight. In each case the man who committed them was seen either entering or leaving the houses. For more than a month the city detectives have been hunting for the robber. It was always the same man who did the work, a light-colored negro with a mustache. Only one of the burglaries has been made public, but yesterday the police and the detectives told of some others.

About 4 p. m. yesterday a boy went up to Policeman John Stoehr in Bogge avenue and told him that he had seen a negro walking up and down the street, who looked like the one who had robbed the house of Mrs. Mary Powell, No. 206 Washington avenue, on June 8. Stoehr hunted the negro up and arrested him. He was taken to the South Thirteenth street police station, and a revolver and screwdriver were found in his pockets. Then he was brought over to the central station, where he was interrogated by Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide. He professed innocence and gave his name as Robert Gracey.

Find Several Pawntickets.

Gracey said he had been a cook in several restaurants and that he lived at No. 2292 Center avenue. There the police found a white woman, who said she was the wife of the man, but that Gracey and she had not lived together for two years, although occasionally he called to see her. At this house the detectives found a half dozen pawntickets, and some rings from which the settings had been taken. The pawntickets showed that a gold watch and several diamonds had been pawned, and from the amounts it was presumed that the pledges ranged in value from $50 to $200.

On June 9 Mrs. Mary Powell was lying down in a room in the rear of her house. She heard a ring at the doorbell and later some one fumbling at the back door, and she began to dress herself. Then she heard footsteps coming up the stairs. Looking out of the door of the room across the hallway she saw a man standing at the dresser in the front room. She uttered an exclamation and the man turned and started toward her. She slammed the door, turned the key and putting her head out of the window shouted for help. Then she saw the same man running down the street. He was seen by a woman and the boy who afterward caused the arrest of Gracey. At this house a gold watch was stolen.

Also Resorts to Forgery.

On May 18 Mrs. Elizabeth Figley's house, 5122 Second avenue, was entered in daylight and a gold watch, a necklace, a pearl brooch, a pair of gold eye glasses and $15 in cash were stolen. Mrs. Harold, a neighbor, saw a negro leaving the Figley house. Mrs. Harold identified Gracey as the man, although, she said, he had his mustache cut off. Mrs. Powell also identified Gracey as the man who had stolen her watch.

The watch taken from Mrs. Figley's house was afterward recovered. She reported the loss to the police who got it from a pawnbroker with whom it had been pledged. The name of Miss Ethel E. Figley, Mrs. Figley's daughter, was in the watch, and the thief had forged Miss Figley's name to a note to the pawnbroker, to reassure the latter.

From 5837 Alder street a mandolin belonging to Wallace Shannon was stolen and afterward recovered; from Louis Erdle's house, 4214 Calvin street, a revolver, two rings, three stickpins and $28 in cash were stolen; from A. Perlstein's house, 2305 Wylie avenue, a diamond ring, two gold watches, foreign coins, a pair of gold cuff buttons and a diamond charm were stolen.

In every case the thief would ring the doorbell and then go to the back door. Getting no response he would suppose that the family was away and would let himself in by passing a screw driver under the strip nailed in the center of the door frames.

The police were informed by Gracey's wife that he was living with another woman, and detectives searched for her yesterday at various houses named successively by Gracey. She could not be found. It is estimated that the daylight thief, whoever he was, since he has been operating, got away with $3,000 in jewelry, cash and other articles.

TO ENCOURAGE FRIENDLY RELATIONS WITH CHINA

Representatives of Cotton and Iron Industries Complain to the President.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 12.—President Roosevelt held a conference today with about 30 members of the American Asiatic association, representing the cotton textile industry and the iron and steel trade of the United States. The delegation entered a formal protest against such an enforcement of the Chinese exclusion laws as might imperil the import trade of this country with China.

It was pointed out that the commercial organizations of China were threatening to boycott American made goods, especially cotton and steel products, unless arrangements were made whereby Chinese merchants, students, literary men and travelers could enter the United States without the serious difficulty which they now encounter. The Chinese urge that members of the classes, which under our exclusion laws, are permitted to enter the United States are often subjected to inconvenience and humiliation by the immigration officers and they insist upon a more liberal treatment of the exempt classes of their countrymen.

President Roosevelt responded cordially. He took exception to the intimation that the immigration officers were too insistent in the enforcement of the law, but in other respects agreed with the delegation that it would be proper for this government to encourage friendly relations with China. He proposed to do all in his power to promote United States trade with China and to promote, generally, the export trade of American producers, farmers as well as manufacturers. He promised to take up the subject with Secretary Metcalf and other officials and to do all possible to remedy the difficulty.

...AGEMENT ...ESIRES ACTION

GOULD LEAVES IN FEW DAYS

Definite policy, with the finances provided, is sought by the new management of the Wabash lines east of Toledo. President F. A. Delano and First Vice President B. A. Worthington were in New York yesterday, in conference with George J. Gould, trying to obtain his approval of the plans before he goes abroad for the summer. As he is to sail this week, it is necessary that a quick decision be made.

The authority to carry to completion the work of double-tracking the Wabash-Pittsburgh terminal and providing greater operating facilities on the Wheeling & Lake Erie; the securing of more equipment and motive power on the Wabash-Pittsburgh terminal; the completion of the connection with the Clairton steel works, and an increase in the facilities of the Wabash interests at the lake ports to enable the handling of more ore, are among the requisites for the solving of the financial problem faced by the Wabash in Pittsburgh; and the comparatively small expenditure needed to give them is eagerly desired by those who are now at the head of the Wabash interests centered here.

That delays in this matter are uselessly expensive on account of the loss of traffic and revenue which can be had as soon as the facilities are provided is admitted, and it is hoped that Mr. Gould can be persuaded to order the needful work done at once.

It was supposed that everything had been arranged for a connection with the terminal railroad reaching the furnaces and steel plant of the Clairton Steel Company. The arrangement first made, however, fell through and a new one has been found necessary. Mr. Gould's approval of the plans advanced had to be obtained, and it is expected that a decision will be made on this, at least, before he goes abroad.

It is pointed out that with the present facilities of the Wabash-Pittsburgh terminal, the connections with the Carnegie Steel Company through the Union railroad, and with the Clairton plants would accomplish little more than to swamp the road. As soon as the Wabash is ready, however, to handle the traffic obtained by it through its contract with the Carnegie company, there is an enormous tonnage ready for it, and the same thing is true of the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

The need to give the facilities at the lakes, which will change the road from its conditions of a haul only one way, and turn over to it ore to load the southbound trains, has been made apparent and better dock equipment is urged.

It is believed that with these facilities completed, and with the Pittsburgh freight station in operation, the earnings of the line will be more than its operating expenses and fixed charges demand. The amount of freight business being done now, at the temporary station in the passenger train shed, is surprising. The passenger business has shown a neat increase likewise.

CHICAGO'S CITY SEAL MAY BE INVALIDATED BY BABE

Ordinance Calls for Infant Sleeping in Shell Whereas Present Figure Seems Very Much Awake.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 12.—A baby may invalidate the city seal of Chicago and thus render illegal all the franchises and other official documents to which the seal has been attached, since the seal was altered by a city ordinance passed April 15. The baby that has caused all the trouble and has driven Comptroller McGann to seek Corporation Counsel Tolman's advice is the "infant sleeping in a shell" provided by the ordinance of April 15 as the design for the seal.

The whole question hinges on the posture of the infant and on the construction of the word "sleeping." The authorities have discovered that the "sleeping infant" in the shell is seated upright with legs crossed and dangling over the edge. Experts assert that no baby can sleep in such a position.

In addition to the problem of whether the official business of the city has been legally approved by the new seal is the question of whether $2,000,000 worth of bonds to be issued by the comptroller in October will be worthless if they bear the new impression.

CLEVER PARK SHOWS.

Vaudeville at Southern and Minstrels at Oakwood Theater.

This week's vaudeville show at Southern park theater is headed by James B. Lawler and daughters, who do a good singing act. Murphy and Nolan as the Irish aldermen, kept the audience in good humor. Larvette in a magic act, "Scenes From the Orient," has several clever tricks. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Shaw add strength to the program.

Bryant and Saville's Minstrel Company are the attraction at Oakwood park theater. They have a new list of songs for this week. The Novelty Comedy Four render all the latest comic and sentimental songs. Bryant and Saville are good in a musical skit, "Start Me." Performances will be given at both parks afternoons at 3:30 and evenings at 8:30 all this week.

Portland General Electric Bonds.

N. W. Harris & Co., bankers, who have recently opened an office in the First National Bank building, are offering to investors $4,000,000 first mortgage bonds of the Portland (Ore.) General Electric Company. These bonds are secured by a first and only mortgage on all property of the company, which, operating under perpetual franchises, does the entire electric light and power business of the city of Portland and surrounding territory, with a population in excess of 125,000. The company, which operates a very large and valuable water power less than 15 miles from Portland, in addition to owning a large and thoroughly modern auxiliary steam station, recently constructed in the city, is earning over twice its fixed charges. The company is controlled by Charles Pratt & Co. of New York, who are closely identified with Standard Oil interests.

BEAT SCHEDULE THREE MINUTES

Pennsylvania's 18-Hour Flyers Gain Time Despite Hotboxes and Other Drawbacks.

OTHER ROADS SPURRED ON

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, June 12.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has shown it is able to operate a regularly-scheduled train between Chicago and New York, and vice versa, in 18 hours. This was accomplished with the arrival, three minutes ahead of time at Jersey City this morning, of the Pennsylvania special which left Chicago at 2:45 p. m. Sunday. The run from Pittsburgh to New York was without incident.

It would seem the train had been running on the fast schedule for days, so smoothly was it operated. Altoona, Harrisburg and North Philadelphia were all reached ahead of time. On the middle division, from Altoona to Harrisburg, the train at one time was almost four minutes late, caused by necessary slowdowns where bridge building is in progress, but a speed of a little over 60 miles an hour from Mifflin put the flyer on time.

Col. Samuel Moody, general passenger agent of the lines west, who made the trip from Chicago, is confident the time can be reduced two hours from the present schedule without difficulty. That the train will pay is evident from the fact it carried 62 passengers into Jersey City this morning and the train which left for Chicago this afternoon was filled to capacity.

CHICAGO, June 12.—On its initial run from New York the Pennsylvania's 18-hour flyer arrived in this city at 8:52 o'clock this morning, three minutes ahead of schedule time. After leaving Pittsburgh, the tender of the big Atlantic type engine, which had been attached at that city for the run to Crestline, O., developed a hot box about 20 miles east of Mansfield, O. Fifteen minutes were lost in futile effort to cool the troublesome axle. Finally, a freight engine was attached which pulled the train into Crestline.

Here the regular engine was in waiting, and when the flyer left the latter place it was 26 minutes late. The run to Fort Wayne, 131 miles away, was made in 114½ minutes, an average of 68.6-10 miles an hour. When the train pulled out of Fort Wayne for the last lap of the long journey it was only 9½ minutes late, 16½ minutes of the lost time having been made up. Miles were frequently reeled off in from 44 to 50 seconds and an average speed of a mile a minute was easily maintained over long stretches of track.

FT. WAYNE, IND., June 12.—The westbound Pennsylvania flyer's fastest time was made near Ada, O., where three miles were covered in 85 seconds, or at the rate of a mile in 28 1-3 seconds, breaking all world's railway speed records. This is at the rate of 127.3 miles an hour.

TALKS ON SWEATSHOPS.

Factory Inspector O'Donnell Tells Pastors of Conditions He Found—Other Ministerial Meetings.

Special Deputy Factory Inspector Hugh O'Donnell delivered an interesting address before the Methodist Episcopal Ministerial association yesterday morning on "The Sweatshops of Pittsburgh." He gave startling accounts of unsanitary conditions that he held existed among toby makers, bakers and clothing makers, and declared that the filthy conditions that exist are in a measure due to the lack of enforcement of established laws. He held that lack of cleanliness and prevalence of filth and disease in these shops were the means of spreading all sorts of diseases throughout the community.

United Presbyterian clergymen met in the Third church, Diamond street, and listened to papers read by women on "The Experiences of Ministers' Wives." Among those who read papers were Mrs. J. T. McCrory, Mrs. J. R. Kennedy and Miss Nannie Mackrell. Following the meeting a banquet was held in the Seventh avenue hotel.

Allegheny classis of the Reformed church held a short session in Grace church, Dithridge street, yesterday morning, and received the Revs. J. D. Dietrick and Dr. J. J. Leberman into the classis. The Rev. Mr. Dietrick will be installed as pastor of St. Mark's church, East End, on Friday evening.

Routine business was transacted at the Lutheran pastors' meeting, and no address was made. The Presbyterian and Methodist Protestant associations have adjourned for the season.

NEW EXCHANGE TO OPEN.

Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company Has Its Commodious Hilltops' Branch Near Completion.

The Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company will on July 15 put into operation its new Knoxville exchange now being completed, at Orchard street and Georgia avenue, Knoxville. From this exchange will be handled the entire Hilltop district, including several wards of Pittsburgh, Mt. Oliver, Knoxville, Montooth, Beltzhoover and West Liberty.

The exchange building is constructed of brick, steel and stone, and has an area of 30x70 feet. In it will be installed not only equipment designed to handle a local exchange of 3,000 lines, but long distance equipment of 28 positions of switchboard. For the convenience of the operators dining and recreation rooms have been provided.

CHINESE DOUBLE DRAGON CONFERRED ON AMERICAN

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The department of state is informed that the Chinese government has conferred the decoration of the Order of the Double Dragon on Col. Theodore W. Symons, corps of engineers, United States army, formerly superintendent of public buildings and grounds in this city, in recognition of courtesies extended to Prince Pu Lin on a recent visit to this country. Col Symons cannot accept this decoration, however, except by congressional enactment.

Complains About McClelland.

Mrs. "Jack" McClelland, wife of the local prize fighter, complained in criminal court yesterday morning that her husband, whom she had arrested for non-support last winter, is $52 behind in his payments. When the case was heard McClelland was ordered to pay his wife $4 a week. Mrs. McClelland was instructed to begin attachment proceedings against him. James Mason is on McClelland's bond.

CAUSE OF AVENUE FIRE DISCOVERED

Electric Light Bulb, in Perfect Order, Gradually Chars Material Enveloping It.

BENEFICENCE OF PINK SLIP

The origin of the fire that destroyed the Avenue theater has been disclosed. Fire Marshal W. D. McGill investigated the fire and from the testimony adduced he has figured it out that an electric light globe, one that was in perfect order, caused the fire. The fire marshal heard several witnesses, among them the negro porter of the theater, Superintendent Kallmier, and Duffy, the city fireman, detailed the premises as a special guard.

The porter was the first person to discover the fire. He went to the Avenue to sweep up. He turned on the electric light and immediately noticed a "spitting" at the switchboard. Looking up he saw that the drops in the loft were afire. He immediately notified Fireman Duffy, who was about to turn on the water from the fire plug on the stage, when the ropes holding the drops parted, letting the scenery down on the fireman, who then fled to save his life, after turning in an alarm.

The lights had been turned on every day in the Avenue theater, and only the day before the fire the board of fire underwriters had tested the electric light system, finding it in perfect order.

More investigation by the fire marshal developed the fact that in the Avenue theater, as in many business houses, there was an electric light globe attached to a long wire, and that it was the custom to move the globe whenever needed and to lay it down wherever convenient. This globe, the fire underwriters hold, became wrapped up in the scenery or other stuff easily ignited, and there, hidden from sight, the heat gradually charred the material which enveloped it, putting it in condition for easy ignition, which came when the porter for the last time turned on the lights.

The investigation has not been the cause of new rules. The fire underwriters are aware that electric lights will continue to be used in the handiest way and that no rules made can be enforced.

The fire underwriters are congratulating themselves that the "pink slip," which was put on insurance policies in the congested district on November 22, 1901, and which remained operative until July 7, 1904, was instrumental in increasing the fire protection in the neighborhood. Before the new mains were put in nearly every alley and street in the downtown district, the hydrant pressure was from 33 to 45 pounds. On the day of the Avenue fire the hydrant pressure was 85 pounds, and there are twice as many hydrants now as there were before the downtown water system was improved. The insurance men hold that if conditions had been the same as when the "pink slip" was in operation, the fire could not have been controlled and the whole block in which the theater is situated might have been destroyed. The "pink slip," which was attached to insurance policies in the congested district, increased the cost of fire insurance $2 on each $1,000.

THE CELESTIAL EMPIRE IS NO LONGER ON A CASH BASIS

People Are Departing from Their Small Fractional Currency and Are Using Coin Equal to Half-Cent—Means Dearer Scale of Living.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Evidence that the economic and industrial uplifting of China has begun is contained in a letter received by Director Roberts of the United States mint from H. B. Morse, statistical secretary of the Chinese imperial customs. Mr. Morse describes how China is rapidly departing from the use of the cash, the traditional copper coin worth about one-twentieth of a cent, and is taking up with a new coin called a cent, worth 10 cash, or half an American cent. In the last year 1,633,700,000 of these new cents were coined and distributed.

The significance of this, Mr. Morse points out, is that the Chinese people have reached a time when they seem about to depart from a cheap coin to a dearer one, and the heavy coinage of the cent indicates a movement from a cheap scale of living to a dearer one. This is exactly the same course that has been followed by the Japanese people.

Mr. Morse points out that it is but a question of time when the new cent will drive out the cash, as the intrinsic value of 10 cash is considerably higher than that of the new cent. Following the laws of money, the coin intrinsically more valuable will disappear. This will leave the Chinese without the means of purchasing such simple necessities as they now buy for a coin worth one-twentieth of a cent. Mr. Morse says it means the scale of wages must rise, and that it points to the approach of a time when those who support families on several cash a day can no longer do this.

Incidentally, the fact that in recent months there have been larger copper shipments to China is explained by Mr. Morse's letter.

The goods handled by a co-operative store are known the world over for their high standard of quality, because the shareholders of a Co-Operative Store are also its best customers, and, therefore, being interested financially, will not permit any adulterative substitution or other methods of lowering quality to the detriment of their future business. By dealing with a Co-Operative Store you are assured of a large saving of money, and an absolute guarantee that the saving is not offset by a corresponding decrease of grade or quality.

FLOODED SEWER ENDANGERS TUNNEL

FIRE ENGINES ARE WRECKED

The damage from the wreck of the Shingiss street sewer, with the terrors of fire added to those of water, reaches tens of thousands of dollars with small hope of immediate repairs. Yesterday the water oozed through the walls of the Panhandle railway tunnel and caused Supt. T. A. Bonebrake to call upon Mayor Hays, seeking reparation for the damage threatened.

Seven engines furnished by the bureau of fire pounded away yesterday in the effort to pump out the thousands of barrels of water which accumulated in the clogged sewers. The wear and tear on the mechanism of the steamers has aroused concern, and the repair shop, it seems, will be the ultimate destination of all the fire fighting machines which have been in use saving Councilman Peter Hermes and his Sixth ward neighbors from deluge.

It will be several days before the Shingiss street sewer can be repaired. In the meantime all the waste water from the Hill district, including a densely populated territory of over two square miles, must be handled through the struggling purples of Pittsburgh's prize nickel-plated fire engines.

"It's simply pounding our fire machines to pieces," said Miles Humphreys, chief of the bureau of fire yesterday afternoon. "Pumping bilge water out of a sewer is not like work at a fire, and the strain is very great. On Sunday the rain caused the trouble. Today has been dry enough as far as the elements are concerned, but Monday is wash-day and few people would believe that these people up here would use so much water. We are almost swamped. The funny part of it is that I have heard the tenement house inspectors say that the most of the Hill residents had no wash-day."

Four engines were at work yesterday morning. They were holding their own, and it was thought that they would succeed in keeping the water out of the Old avenue cellars until the sewer would be repaired. About noon another exigency came up. Supt. Bonebrake reported to the mayor that the water was oozing into the Fourth avenue tunnel. Serious damage was threatened. Unless the water could be checked, it was declared, the railroad would be obliged to abandon the tunnel. The mayor communicated this to the fire chief, and three additional engines were called out. The best of these was the big automobile engine from Eighth street, which ordinarily is called out only in case of emergency. It pumps 1,200 gallons of water a minute, and is the best of its class.

With seven engines at work the cellars were soon emptied of back water. These machines pumped an average of 226,000 gallons of water a minute. Since the sewer bursted, until daylight this morning, it is estimated that 16,500,000 gallons of water have been pumped from the sewer.

About 2 o'clock yesterday morning a spark from one of the engines set fire to the feed store of Daniel McCaffrey's Sons, at No. 716 Old avenue, and caused damage aggregating $10,000. The tailoring establishment of J. Rosenberg, on the second floor of the building, suffered about the same amount of damage.

It was stated yesterday afternoon by the employes of the bureau of highways and sewers that the sewer could not be repaired for two days, and that the fire engines would be needed in the meantime. The officials of the Panhandle railway said that they would be able to operate trains through the tunnel while the sewer was being pumped. Peter Hermes estimates his loss at $25,000. The city's loss will reach more than that when the repairs of the fire engines are added to the expense of the work.

GREAT MEAT COMPANY HOLDS BIG RECEPTION

Swift's Big Warehouse, Finest in the World, Opened to the Public.

One of Chicago's big industries on a smaller scale was what visitors to the warehouse of Swift & Company, 309-313 Anderson street, Allegheny, saw yesterday. It was the occasion of the opening of the establishment, said to be the finest one of its kind in the world. The claim seems to be thoroughly borne out, and was readily believed by the thousands of people who passed through the handsome building yesterday.

The plant combines a storage house, refrigerating establishment, slaughter house and warehouse for the bi-products of a great meat packing establishment, besides the offices for the Allegheny branch. It has been completed at a cost of about $150,000 and no expense has been spared to make it complete in every detail.

The first floor is taken up with a great cold storage room, where the meat is stored until delivered to the butchers of Pittsburgh and Allegheny. Yesterday the big cold room was filled with dressed beeves, sheep, calves and hogs. There were over 300 dressed beeves hanging to the hooks, besides hundreds of hogs, sheep and calves. Some idea of the immensity of this vast ice box, where the temperature is at all times close to the freezing point, may be gained from this figure. Besides the carcasses there were the various parts of the animals which go to make up the list of butcher shop delicacies. In addition to these were hundreds of cases of eggs, firkins of butter, tubs of lard, and a bewildering assortment of all the good things that go to make eating a pleasure instead of a mere duty one owes one's stomach.

On the second floor are the offices and another big cooling room. The third floor is taken up as a warehouse for the soap department, as the Swifts make 150 different kinds of toilet and laundry soap and preparations from the bi-products of their establishment. On this floor are also the smoke houses, where all the pork products sold in this city are cured. On the fourth floor are the killing pens. The company proposes to kill all its small stock, such as lambs, sheep and calves, on the premises. They are unloaded from the elevated tracks of the Ft. Wayne railroad into a runaway on the third floor, driven up a staging to the fourth, and into slaughtering pens. On the third floor the manufacture of sausages and other pork products is also carried on. The Swifts pride themselves upon the superior reputation they have gained for the manufacture of pork products.

At the formal opening yesterday there were a number of the big men of the great company present. Among them were Bert Swift, son of the head of the great house; F. A. Fowler, head of the branches of the company; F. C. Potter, manager of the produce department; John Hawkinson, manager om the provision department, all of Chicago; and J. P. Orr of Boston, at the head of the company's soap department. They were all highly pleased with the success of the day.

Certain it is that the women of Pittsburgh and Allegheny appreciated the efforts of the company to please them. They were present yesterday by the thousands and all day long a stream of visitors was coming and going. Every department of the great plant was shown, and visitors were afforded every opportunity to learn how meat is prepared, kept and handled on a large scale. For their further entertainment the company had an orchestra engaged for the day, and the entire building was tastefully decorated with palms and cut flowers. Souvenirs in the shape of a small ham (button hole size) and cakes of soap were distributed to the visitors.

Now that vacation days are drawing near you can appreciate the convenience of a savings account in the "Bank that pays 3 per cent." Peoples Savings Bank, Fourth avenue and Wood street.

STATE IS WITHOUT HEALTH ORGANIZATION

Dr. Dixon Says There Is No One to Cope With a Possible Epidemic.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, June 12.—Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, the new state health commissioner, will begin the work of organizing the department as soon as he is provided with suitable quarters in this city. Dr. Dixon, who came to Harrisburg with Dr. Charles B. Penrose of Philadelphia today, to discuss this matter with Gov. Pennypacker, said after his visit to the governor:

"We arrived at no conclusions as to what shall be done in the future. Whatever we do must be done quickly, as the state board of health went out of existence when I qualified and filed my bond last Tuesday. Should an epidemic break out, there would be nobody to cope with it, and an epidemic is liable to break out any day."

Gov. Pennypacker has not yet appointed the advisory board, which will co-operate with the health commissioner, neither has the 10 district officers or other attaches of the department been appointed by Dr. Dixon. Until permanent quarters are provided for the department in the new capitol, Dr. Dixon will probably have his office in the temporary capitol in East State street.

BOYS LEARN FARMING.

Youths at Industrial Home Being Taught How to Till Soil.

The managers of the Boys' Industrial home at Oakdale met yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. building. Supt. J. W. Cleland reported 47 boys in the home. This is a slight reduction, as a number of the boys have been placed on neighboring farms for the summer, where the training they get is in line with the objects of the home.

The committee on new property, Maj. J. W. Nesbit, James Wallace and J. W. Cleland, reported the purchase of the Hutchinson place which adjoins the home grounds. The price was $3,800. A friend of the institution gave $500 toward the purchase, and several others gave $100 each.

SCARLET FEVER INCREASE CAUSING MUCH ALARM

The great increase in the number of scarlet fever cases in the Penn avenue district is causing alarm among officials of the bureau of health. Eight cases were reported yesterday, seven being in the Twelfth ward. Three cases are at 2834 Penn avenue and four at 2912 Mulberry alley. Most of the cases are among Polish families in the crowded mill district. Sixteen cases of typhoid fever were reported yesterday.

Bath Costs Mrs. Connors $2,000.

DETROIT, MICH., June 12.—It became known here today that Mrs. W. J. Connors of Buffalo, N. Y., was robbed a few days ago of $2,000 worth of jewelry in the Hotel Cadillac. The jewelry was stolen from Mrs. Connor's bedroom while she was in the bath room adjoining. It is thought the thief was a woman.

FATAL DECISION BY THE UMPIRE

It Paves the Way for the Pirates' Defeat, and Hans Wagner Helps Things Along.

YOUNG IS A FINE PITCHER

The defeat of the Pirates in the opening game of the series with the Boston team, 4 to 3, can be traced to two causes. The first was a palpably unfair decision by Umpire O'Day in calling Manager Clarke out at the home plate in the third inning, and the other was an error by Wagner in the sixth inning, which paved the way for three of the visitors' four runs.

The decision of the umpire on Clarke was the means of calling down on the head of that official the wrath of the 2,425 spectators who had braved the possibility of a rainstorm in order to be at the opening game. In that inning Clarke was on third base, with one out and one run already over the plate. Howard, who was at the bat, drove the ball toward first base and, as it was a slow roller, had it beaten out. Clarke tried for the plate on the hit. Tenney made the play at the plate. Needham, who was doing the catching for Boston, put the ball on the runner, but in doing so the ball slipped from his hands and rolled fully a yard, and must have been seen by the umpire, but, to the surprise of everybody, he called Clarke out. Of course the Pirate leader made a strong protest, but this was unheeded, and the decision, although wrong, was allowed to stand. Had Clarke been called safe another run would have counted, for Wagner reached third and could easily have scored on Hillebrand's flyout to Dolan in right field.

Hans Wagner's contribution to the Pirates' misfortunes of the afternoon was in the sixth inning, and this paved the way for the three runs scored in that inning. Delehanty, who was the first Boston batter in the sixth, hit a grounder to Wagner, of which he made a beautiful mess, and the batsman reached first. A sacrifice by Wolverton, singles by Dolan and Raymer, a stolen base by Dolan and a two-base hit by Young were all that was needed to bring in three runs.

The two-bagger by Young was an odd affair. Dolan was on third, Raymer on second. Two men were out. Case, who was pitching for the Pirates, was fooling in the pitchers' box. Dolan conceived the notion he could steal home, and if the ball had gone a trifle slower to the plate and would have completed the steal, but some one awakened Case and he shot the ball to the catcher. Young was standing at the plate, and the ball, instead of reaching the catcher, struck Young's bat and sailed to right field for a two-base hit.

Manager Tenney introduced as his pitcher Cy Young, the second, the left-hander who has been fooling all the teams, and who has made quite a record for himself. This new twirler is built something on the lines of Hans Wagner. He has a pair of broad shoulders, a strong left arm, a cool head and he knows not of "stage fright" but how to field his position. He pitched a good game yesterday, but had the Pirates played the proper game defeat would have been his portion.

Charley Case for the locals did fairly good work, but his support was not of the best; in fact, Clarke's crew seemed tired and stupid after the hard series with New York last week. Clymer was in his place in the box and right field being taken by Homer Hillebrand, who made a very good impression. The Pirates' batting order was also given a shaking up with good effect. The work of the catchers was very slow, as no less than nine bases were stolen during the game, five by Boston and four by the Pirates. This was an unusual display of base running.

The Pirates got away in the lead, scoring a run in the second inning when Howard led off with an infield hit, was sacrificed to second by Hillebrand, and scored on a single to right by Dolan. The visitors got the run back in the third when, with two out, Cappell reached first on balls, stole second and got home on wild throws by Phelps. The Pirates again showed ahead by securing a run in their half of the third, and there might have been more but for a bad decision by the umpire.

Leach led off the inning with an infield single and Beaumont drew a base on balls. Clarke beat out a bunt, which Abbatticchio made a wild throw on, and Leach scored. Beaumont took third on the misplay. Wagner drove a hot one which Young partly stopped, Wolverton getting the ball and Beaumont was caught between the bases and run down. In the meantime Clarke reached third and Wagner second. Clarke tried to score on Howard's drive to Tenney and was safe, but was called out by the umpire.

Wagner's error started the visitors going in the sixth and, before the third hand was out, three runs had been scored. The Pirates' last run was scored by Clarke in the eighth, when he reached second by reason of Cannell dropping his easy fly and scored on a single by Wagner. The score:

PIRATES NEW TWIRLER IS A VERY TALL FELLOW

"Peg" Moore Reported Yesterday and Manager Clarke Closely Watchd His Work.

During the preliminary practice of the Pirates yesterday the early arrivals noticed a very tall young man out in uniform who was doing a line of pitching and whose work Manager Clarke was watching very closely. This was "Peg" Moore, the twirler who comes from the banks of the Tuscarawas and who was sent here by Harry Smith, the ex-Pirate catcher, with an O. K. tab on him. The new man is certainly tall enough, as he towers well above Clarke. He seemed to have all kinds of speed in his short try-out. Manager Clarke will give Moore a full tryout before passing judgment on his ability.

It was hinted in baseball circles yesterday that Otis Clymer is not satisfied with his berth on the Pirate team and there was a possibility of his asking for his release. Clymer has been under the weather for a few days suffering with a fever which was the cause of his not being in yesterday's game, at least that is what was officially given out.

The catchers were away off in their throwing to the bases yesterday and more stolen bases were recorded than ordinarily happens in half a dozen games. Nine stolen bases in one game does not look very good in catchers' records. The pitchers were in a large measure to blame for this, as the base runners were allowed too long leads and the catchers could not get the ball to the base fast enough to catch them.

Umpire O'Day's decision in calling Fred Clarke out at the plate in the third inning was a queer one, sure enough. Had Catcher Needham held the ball there would be no question of the out, but he did not hold it and the ball rolled fully a yard away from him and within plain sight of the umpire. Of course Clarke put up a vigorous protest, but it was of no use, as umpires have orders not to change their decisions.

The shift in the Pirates' batting order yesterday worked well for Tommy Leach, who managed to crack out three hits. It is a fact that Leach has always batted better when near the top of the list than when placed away down near the tail end.

That Delehanty boy who plays left field for the Boston team is something of a ringer for his famous brother and bats just like the other one did. He soaks the ball good and hard and fielders as a rule play deep when he is at bat.

SEWICKLEY HEIGHTS IS PLANNING HORSE SHOW

Will Build Barns, Ring and the Like on Allegheny Country Club Grounds.

Bids have been received and contracts will be let this morning by the Sewickley Heights Horse Show association for two new barns, carriage house, kitchen, dining rooms and sleeping rooms, grandstand, show ring and new roads for the horse show plant of the association. A plan has been selected on the grounds of the Allegheny County club. The association will expend upwards of $30,000 for the improvements.

All the improvements are expected to be completed by the middle of August. The autumn horse show will be held the week of September 11. This will be the greatest horse show ever held in Pittsburgh and will run either two or three days. The one last fall, while satisfactory in every way, was but a forerunner of the big things that are to be attempted. It will be an open air affair, what the Philadelphia shows is on St. Martin's Green.

An organization of the association was perfected a few days ago and officers elected. They are as follows: President, W. W. Willock; vice president, Joseph Jones, Jr., D. C. Byers, J. W. Scully, H. R. Rea, W. N. Kerr, W. D. Henry; treasurer, J. D. Lyon; secretary, J. H. Childs; directors, William Thaw, J. W. Scully, W. W. Willock, H. R. Rea, E. M. Byers, J. D. Lyon, W. N. Kerr, W. R. Rhodes, J. INTERSCHOLASTICS ARE WINNERS

ALL INDEPENDENT GAMES

The Interscholastic baseball team inaugurated its third season yesterday, playing at McKeesport. The school boys won easily from that fast Independent bunch, 10 to 2. Earl Russell, the former Mercersburg academy boy, was on the rubber for the Interscholastics, and he outpitched Harvey Hollis, the veteran.

The school boys hammered the ball all over the lot, getting 17 safe ones. The hits came in bunches, there being plenty of bunts and drives. Milt Montgomery led in the swatting with four hits and a sacrifice, and Alex McCracken was second with three bingles and a walk. Uptegraff gathered in a line hit in the third and doubled up McClarren at second. Thornhurst ended the game by making a pretty running catch off Hollis' bat.

Orbin and Hartman were not in the McKeesport lineup. Patterson played two innings for McKeesport, when English appeared and played his position. The score:

UPTEGRAFF PLEASED.

Predicts His Team Will Win Many Games This Season.

The interscholastic players were delighted last evening over their decisive victory at McKeesport yesterday afternoon. It was the first game of the season for the boys and they did not have any practice prior to the game. Tom Uptegraff, captain of the team, was well pleased with the bowling, and he predicts that the team, with its share of luck, will beat many of the crack independent teams this summer.

The team last year was good, but it lost close score games. Uptegraff was pleased with the showing of Russell, who is expected to take the place of Frank Fawley, who helped Jon Doyle and "Toots" Shultz on the rubber last year.

The team leaves this morning for New Wilmington to play Westminster college today and tomorrow. Grove City college will be played Thursday and Saturday. The Shaners will be played on the Shaner grounds.

This is worth while. It looks as if Pittsburgh really has summer opera at last. The Carleton opera company inaugurated a season at the Nixon last night that promises so much better than anything we have had in this line that I am inclined to give the venture unqualified praise. Of course there are raw edges here and there, and one or two weak places, while the chorus will need training to bring it into stage shape, but taken altogether this initial venture of the Nixon in providing light summer amusement is worth all, and more, than is charged for it. In the first place, the opera is a breezy, tuneful, patriotic affair of no serious quality, either in music or book. Stanislaus Stange's story of "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" is built for the stage. It is full of waving flags, blue and gray uniforms, Southern accent, war inspirations and love, in about equal proportion, with some dancing pickaninnies, moonlight and fireflies thrown in to give color to the incidents which are neither conspicuous nor altogether coherent. The relations between the lovers, a northern officer, who is southern born, and the southern girl, and between the subsidiary characters, is kept clear enough, however, all the time to follow without special brain fag. It is Julian Edwards' music that the charm of this military operanza lies for summer entertainment. Edwards is not a great composer when it comes to creation, but I hardly know his equal for melodies and felicitous transposition. He has gone to a fruitful land for melody and has come away with about all the melodies of the south in this comic opera. Sometimes he throws them in bodily. Then again he weaves them together gracefully and you catch the echo of a Sunday school hymn, a negro melody and a war song, all in one number. In this score, which is obviously written for music "atmosphere," the composer has done nothing conspicuous, but everywhere has kept the melody lilting. A duet, "When Our Lips in Kisses Met," "Fairyland" and the beautiful quintet melody, "Suwanee River," in the first act, are samples of this light but exceedingly deft style of orchestration. "My Honeysuckle Gal," "Katie, My Southern Rose," "Years Touch Not the Heart" and the quartet in the finale of the second act are other beautiful samples of melody in song writing. Thus, although the score nowhere reaches dignity, it nowhere falls into unmelodic tiresomeness. It is a light, bubbling, reminiscent score, with everything, and something of nearly everybody who has written southern melodies, in it, but it is pleasant and fits into the tenuous summer thought, and brings a sense of relief that only the familiar melody can. You don't have to think.

The company is one of excellence, almost without exception. The Messrs. Carleton, father and son, have good baritone voices and both are actors of intelligence and handsome appearance. Carleton, senior, sings General Allen, while young Carleton has the role of the hero, "Johnny," and his voice and fine figure give it excellent interpretation. Perhaps the star of the cast, and all the more luminous because unknown, hitherto, is Miss Gertrude Vaughn, who sings Kate Pemberton. Miss Vaughn has a remarkably sweet, clear soprano of lyrical quality. It is still in the making, but I would not be much surprised to hear great things of this young woman. In manner and spirit she is suggestive of Alice Neilson, and sings her role and plays the southern girl with a grace that gives this Stange and Edwards opera a charm that it would, perhaps, not otherwise have. Miss Clara Palmer is not properly cast for a soubrette, but she plays and sings the part of a boy with fine grace. Miss Preville as Constance, displays a contralto voice considerably above the usual summer opera brand. Maurice Darcy is a good actor and plays the role "Geoffrey" with happy spirit. Will H. Bray is the old negro, Tom, and a good one, too. His "Honeysuckle" song was a hit. The principals I have named are responsible for the vocal and acting excellence of the piece. They deserve the fine impression they made last night. Miss Bertha Darel's "Cordelia" is not so good, though the young woman is vivacious and works hard, but her voice is less strong and lacks the spirit and tone for the environments in which it is found.

The opera is well put forward. Indeed, it is mounted so much better than summer opera standards in Pittsburgh as to be striking. There are incongruities. For instance, if southern girls had worn their hoopskirts in the way these stage imitators wear them there would have been a riot—at the first ball. The girl of '61 was a modest damsel and the absence of crinoline in the modern imitation of her is a shocking travesty on the sweetest womanhood that our soil has ever produced. The second act, with its southern moon and flashing fireflies was especially pretty, and the entire equipment and stage management showed an earnest effort to give a performance that would be a credit to the theater and an attraction to the wily summer theatergoer that he could not resist. I believe this has been accomplished. The standard considered, that of light summer opera, this is quite the best thing we've had in many moons, and well worth the money. The theater was cool. That is an important item, and it is worth while giving the management full credit for reducing the temperature fully 10 degrees below what it was out doors.

Bijou—"The James Boys in Missouri."

There is absolutely no excuse for the existence of a melodrama so crudely constructed, so villainously contradictory of facts and so harmfully suggestive of criminal heroism as this wild and weird affair with which the Bijou is closing its season this week. That the audience burst into applause at the singing of a song by the soubrette and shouted with delight at the cheap and amateurish heroics of the actors, only goes to prove that there are theater-goers who care very little for even ordinary intelligence on the stage.

"The James Boys in Missouri" is a specimen of the backwoods drama that bears the descriptive title, "Tank." The situations barely escape being so bad as to be actually humorous, and the dialogue is so absurd at times as to be idiotic. The notorious James boys are made the victims of other people's villainy, and the play brings Jesse to his death with a halo around his head. But there can be little harm done through moral example unless it be among absolutely irresponsible youth, for the play is so crude and the acting so amateurish that even the ordinary devotee of melodrama is much more likely to laugh all the time—except, possibly, at the comedy, which is furnished by two blackface characters, who do the best they can. Jesse James is played by Will Santchi, and Frank by Howard Tremaine. Both actors are young men and display the virtue of vigorous voices, at any rate. The remainder of the cast is not noteworthy. Miss Gay Errol's Jennie being perhaps most popular, largely because of the songs she sings. The piece is quite as crudely staged as played, and the train hold-up is ghastly in its melodramatic cheapness. There is a great popping of pistols but, unfortunately, not enough of the play is disabled to prevent another set in which Jesse James is awkwardly killed, considering the many excellent chances his enemies had had previously to do it gracefully.

ROMANTIC PAIR GO TO CUMBERLAND TO WED

Marie P. Aiken and John Rudolph Grabowsky Surprise Friends by Marrying Out of Town.

Romance, stronger in its appeal than the conventional celebration of a wedding, last Friday led a young Pittsburg couple to quietly leave this city and they are now enjoying a honeymoon in the East, after their marriage in Cumberland, Md. The romantic pair are Miss Marie P. Aikin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Aiken of North avenue, Allegheny, and John Rudolph Grabowsky of Fifth avenue.

They slipped away to Cumberland last Friday and the first intimation any one had was contained in telegrams from the bride and groom to their parents. There was no opposition in either family and the bridal couple soon had the blessings of both households and were away on their wedding journey, which took them as far as Boston. They are expected back some time this week. No plans have been made as yet as to their future home.

The marriage has been kept a profound secret and the announcement will be a big surprise to their friends. The engagement of Miss Aiken's sister, Miss Margaret Aiken, to Chester G. Fisher, was recently announced. It was said by a friend of the newly married couple that they feared their wedding would be postponed for some time after the wedding of Miss Margaret and Mr. Fisher, and they decided not to wait.

M'KEESPORT COUNCIL TURNS DOWN THE MAYOR

Refuses to Confirm Appointment of Executive's Cousin to Be Milk and Meat Inspector.

At the meeting last evening of McKeesport select council an effort of Mayor Falkenstein to dismiss Meat and Milk Inspector J. J. Murphy and install in his place the mayor's cousin, Fred Steckle, ended in failure. Mayor Falkenstein previously appointed Steckle to the office, but council refused to confirm the appointment. Yesterday the mayor notified Murphy of his dismissal and also notified select council of his action, appointing Steckle as a successor to Murphy.

Council refused to confirm the appointment, and Solicitor W. E. Newlin advised council the mayor was not authorized to dismiss the meat and milk inspector except for cause. He said that under the law Murphy could continue to serve as inspector and draw salary until the council should regularly choose a successor.

An ordinance was presented by the McKeesport Railway Company, asking for rights-of-way over practically all the streets and alleys of the city not covered by the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

AMONG THE CLUBS

Kindergarteners Play on Lawn.

Wholly delightful was the game festival given at the Pittsburgh Country club, Beechwood boulevard, yesterday afternoon. It was the annual festival of the kindergartners in the schools throughout Pittsburgh and Allegheny and the students in the Kindergarten college, over 100 young women taking part in the games which were played on the lawn before the club house. The girls were all dressed in white and the scene was a pretty and animated one. The plazzas were filled with guests, while chairs were placed on the grounds surrounding that portion used for the games. They were played under the direction of Miss Georgia Allison, the supervisor of the kindergartens. The program included simple songs and games. Among them were "The Kitchen Closet," "The Charcoal Burner," "The Cobbler," "The Kite" and the closing game, which was called "The Soldier Boy." This last was exceptionally pretty and interesting, introducing the songs and flags of different nations, among them Wales, England, Germany, France and the United States. After the festival tea was served. The graduating exercises of the Kindergarten college will be held tomorrow evening, at the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music. It is expected that Miss Lucy Wheelock of Boston will be here on that occasion.

SECURITIES WORTH $120,000 STOLEN

Disappear from Stateroom on a Fall River Boat—Thief Demands Small Ransom.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, June 12.—A robbery involving the loss of $120,000 in negotiable securities by Henry W. Comstock of Boston, which occurred on board the steamer Puritan during her trip from New York to Fall River last night, was reported to the police authorities of this city today.

The securities, which included 22 certificates of stock of various railroads and of the United States Steel Corporation, were taken from under a pillow in Mr. Comstock's stateroom by some one, who, it is believed, had climbed through a window. The securities were received by Mr. Comstock in a business transaction at a New York hotel on Saturday, and it is suspected that someone who witnessed the incident followed the man on board the boat and then committed the robbery. Shortly after Mr. Comstock had reached this city he received a telephone message from New York from the people with whom he made the transaction, stating they had received word from the man who stole them saying he would return the securities for a few hundreds of dollars. He directed to pay the money demanded. Mr. Comstock suspects a rough-looking man, who was nearby during the negotiations in a public room in the hotel.

BOARDERS HAVE TERRIFIC BATTLE WITH MADMAN

Allegheny Swede Breaks Loose and Attacks Them on Porch at Boarding House.

While sitting on the porch at his boarding house at No. 807 Vista street, Allegheny, last night, George Karch, aged 28, suddenly sprang at one of the men sitting with him and before he could be prevented grasped the man by the throat and bore him to the floor of the porch. Five other men sprang upon Karch and a terrific struggle followed before they could overpower him.

Karch frothed at the mouth and tried to bite the men who were endeavoring to overpower him. After Karch had been secured a physician was summoned and he bound Karch's hands and bandaged his head so that he could not use his teeth. Karch was then taken to the Allegheny General hospital in a patrol wagon. On being released in the hospital he attacked the attendants and it required four men to overpower him there.

Masses will be read at 6, 7 and 8 o'clock this morning by the rector, the Rev. J. B. Duffner, while at 9 o'clock a solemn high mass will be celebrated by the Rev. Joseph Suehr, of SS. ALWAYS FRESH FOOD

Crisp and Easily Digested, Malta-Vita Goes Straight From Its Huge Ovens to the Many Who Eat It.

The Malta-Vita Pure Food Co., of Battle Mich., has adopted a successful method of keeping the public always supplied with fresh Malta-Vita, the perfect food.

When Malta-Vita comes from the ovens, it is the crispest, most delicious food in the world, containing only one per cent of moisture. The other 99 per cent is food—brain and bone and nerve and muscle food—and most easily digested because the gelatinized starch of the thoroughly cooked wheat has been converted, by fine malt extract, into maltose (malt sugar).

No other food preparation contains such a high degree of food quality and such a low degree of moisture.

The Malta-Vita company limits orders from every wholesale dealer to a quantity which the company knows can be disposed of quickly in the wholesaler's territory. The wholesaler, in turn, makes only such shipment to grocers as he knows they will be able to handle satisfactorily.

Thus the grocer's supply of Malta-Vita is always as fresh and crisp as when it comes from the ovens in the big factory at Battle Creek—always the kind that melts in the mouth.

Malta-Vita is so deliciously refreshing and satisfying that it should be in every home. It is the only perfect food. Best for children and best for grown folks.

At all grocers now 10 cents. Same high quality, same big package as when sold for 15 cents.

The BACK WARNS You

A Weak, a Lame, or an Aching Back Is Nature's Warning That the Kidneys Are Sick.

Cure Them With Doan's Kidney Pills.

Backache and urinary troubles are danger signals sent to tell you that the kidneys are clogged and congested; that the system is rapidly filling up with uric acid and other poisonous waste that should be passed off in the urine.

Healthy kidneys filter out of the blood every day more than an ounce of poison. But when the kidneys are sick this filtering process is either hindered or suspended. So the body can never be well when the kidneys are ill; and it is because so many people neglect sick kidneys that kidney diseases are causing more deaths than any other human ills.

It is easy to cure any form of kidney trouble with Doan's Kidney Pills before it reaches a fatal stage, and there are many symptoms to tell you when you have kidney disorders.

The most common of these symptoms are:

Pain in the small of the back, hips or sides; pain when stooping or lifting.
Headaches and dizzy spells.
Nervousness, languor.
Too copious or too scanty discharges of urine.
Thick, cloudy, discolored and ill-smelling urine, with deposits of sediment.
Having to get out of bed at night to pass urine, etc.

The blood carries the urinous waste to every part of the body. It gets into the nervous system and causes neuralgia or sciatica; it gets into the muscles and causes rheumatic pains and gout; it weakens the lungs and irritates the heart, causing the heart to flutter and palpitate; it crystallizes into gravel and stones in the bladder and kidneys.

You lapse into a general run-down and languid condition and drift every day toward diabetes and Bright's Disease.

You may have only one of the above symptoms, or you may have several; but danger lurks in every one, and you should begin treating the kidneys at once with Doan's Kidney Pills.

This great specific is composed of simple vegetable elements which are absorbed immediately by the kidneys and act on the kidneys alone. It heals and cures diseased tissues, allays inflammation and congestion, and restores normal kidney action.

PITTSBURGH PROOF:

William A. Jenkins, inspector at Jones & Laughlin's mill, living at 2324 Larkins St., S. S., says: "It is five or six years ago that I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, after being unable to work for three years. I tried about all the doctors on the South Side, but I was still in a terrible condition, suffering fearfully from pain in the back and kidneys and much distress from the kidneys secretions. I knew from these symptoms that my kidneys were out of order and I thought it came from a strain, caused by handling heavy stuff at the mill. Before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I got so bad that I thought I would die, and I would rather die now than go through it again. Doan's Kidney Pills made a complete cure and I have not had a return of the trouble in these five or six years past."

SKYSCRAPER FOR COSTLY TRIANGLE

Options Are Being Sought on Property at Fifth, Market and Liberty.

HUMP SALE OF $160,000

After a lapse of over a year options are again being sought on the triangle bounded by Fifth and Liberty avenues and Market street, the most valuable triangle, probably, in the city. A prominent firm of brokers is handling the deals for a well known oil man. The utmost secrecy has been maintained about the matter thus far, but it was learned yesterday from authoritative sources that a determined effort is being made to secure the entire triangle as a site for a 12 or 14-story skyscraper to cost not less than $1,000,000. About two years ago D. P. Reighard made an effort to buy up the triangle, which was then valued at about $600,000. The deals for options progressed so far at that time that a leading firm of Pittsburgh architects drew up preliminary plans for a skyscraper to be erected by Mr. Reighard in case the deals went through. It was the intention at that time to make the first floor of the building a banking home, and the United States National bank was said to be the prospective tenant. Owing to the failure of the agents to get one of the properties in the triangle the deal was abandoned. It being revived at this time is significant in connection with the big improvements going on around the city.

There are four properties in the triangle which would be worth at present prices over $1,000,000. A. Verner owns 18.8x85 feet at 501 market street, running through to Liberty avenue, which is improved with a good five-story brick building, the first floor of which is occupied by Verner's shoe store. The United States National bank owns the three-story stone front building, 16x85 feet, at 503 Market street, where the bank is located. No. 505, a three-story brick owned by M. McCague, has a frontage of 21 feet in Market street, with a depth of 85 feet on the side next to the bank, and about 70 feet on the other side, and a frontage of 29.9 feet in Liberty avenue. The T. Williams heirs own 507-511 Market street, a triangular-shaped lot facing 72.94 feet in Market street and 103 feet in Liberty avenue and running to a point. Tails is improved with three old brick buildings. Two of which are occupied as flower and confectionery stores.

Grant Street Lot Brings $160,000.

Property on the east side of Grant street, midway between Fourth avenue and Diamond street, measuring 48x121.5 feet, formerly owned by M. Friedman and I. L. Aronson, and sold last year to the Commonwealth Realty and Construction company, changed hands again yesterday, the reputed buyer being M. F. Mahoney. The Commonwealth paid $160,000 for the property and the price at which it has just been sold is about $180,000, which gives the former owners a profit of $20,000 and makes the property figure at the rate of $3,480 a front foot or $3.67 a square foot. The lot is improved with two three-story brick buildings, the upper floors of which are practically vacant. The Commonwealth company used the first floor of one of the buildings as an office until recently. Mr. Maloney owns 60x120 feet adjoining this lot, at the corner of Grant and Diamond streets, and a 20-foot strip owned by the Marshall heirs at 506 Diamond street which is needed to square up his holdings. When the Commonwealth company bought the two lots first mentioned it was announced that a skyscraper would be erected this summer on the site, and prices went bounding in anticipation of the proposed improvement. Nothing has been done, however, on this project. The site would make an excellent site for an office building, and with the Maloney corner makes one of the most valuable properties on the hump.

New Houses for Twenty-Third Ward.

The Diamond Real Estate Company, Incorporated recently with a capital of $50,000, to handle the business of the Samuel W. Black Company at its Glenwood office, yesterday let the contract, through W. S. Haynes, to Stevenson & Adams, for 17 brick houses to be erected for James Jones of the Pittsburgh-Buffalo Company in Tecumseh street, Twenty-third ward. The houses will be built on lots 30x100 feet each and will cost $50,000. In this locality they will rent readily for $22.50 a month. Mr. Haynes also started yesterday to take bids on 11 brick houses for Mrs. Elizabeth Flowers, to be erected in Flowers avenue, at a cost of $1,500 each. These will stand on lots 18x80 feet, and will be within two squares of Second avenue.

Architects Niedlinger & Simpson are drawing plans for a $16,000 residence for G. Cook Klinbalt in Dahlia street, East End.

Architects Struthers & Hannah are taking estimates on an addition to the store building of the Joseph Horne Company, at Penn avenue and Fifth street.

Bids are being taken for a three-story brick apartment house for E. Atchinson in Baum street, to cost $15,000.

Bids are being taken by Architects E. M. Butz & Co. on a four-story brick warehouse addition at 131-133 Water street, for the Kelly & Jones Company.

Architects Rieger & Currier have plans for a three-story brick addition for Albert J. Mausmann's store at 5911 Penn avenue, East End.

Busy on Schenley Farm.

The two big Sucyrus steam shovels which are to assist in leveling the Schenley farm were landed on the property yesterday after several days' delay in getting them up from the Baltimore & Ohio railroad station and across the tracks of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. They are two of the largest machines ever used for that purpose in Pittsburgh and have been in use lately on the Wabash lines. Over 200 men and about 75 mules will be working by tomorrow night on the new site, the first of which will be Bayard and the cross street next to the First United Presbyterian church. Four locomotives will be put in service shortly, and over two miles of tramway will be laid.

There is little probability of any definite action by the trustees of the Third United Presbyterian church today in regard to the offer of $250,000 submitted to them by the county commissioners for their property in Diamond street above Grant street. The offer was a verbal one, made to Attorney-Marshall Johnston, but the commissioners say they will stand by it. It came in the form of a counter proposition to the offer of the trustees to sell the property for $80 a square foot, or $432,870, and the two parties deadlock as far apart now as ever. The most conservative of the trustees say the offer is at least $100,000 lower than should be received for the church property, and the county commissioners are fully as positive that the figure named by the church is fully $150,000 too high.

Penn Avenue Corner Sold.

Through the Aronson-Friedman company the L. Gefsky holdings at Penn avenue and Twenty-seventh street have been sold to Samuel Weinhaus for $18,100. The lot is 24x100 feet, extending back to Spring alley, and has on it a three-story brick building and two three-story dwellings in the rear. The property rents for nearly $2,000 a year.

Chislett street: The Aronson Realty Company sold for Anna A. Duncan and others to Victor Levy, 918 Chislett street, Eighteenth ward, 20x100 feet, for $5,200.

Curtin avenue: James A. Griffith sold for Mrs. Sarah Rhodes to James Barone, a frame house on a lot 25x100 feet, in Curtin avenue, Thirty-eighth ward, for $1,825.

Alhambra street: Fagg Brothers & Co. sold for David Page to P. McRoberts, an improved lot, 25x76.5 feet, in Alhambra alley, Nineteenth ward, for $4,000.

Susquehanna street: H. P. Stewart sold for B. A. Benson an improved lot, 26x132 feet, in Susquehanna street, Thirty-seventh ward, for $4,500.

Dearborn street: Alice E. Bennett sold to F. Dicker a lot, 62x100 feet, in Dearborn street, near Evaline street, for $1,550.

Franklin street: Frank & Sanes sold to Joseph J. Broida an improved lot, 20x50 feet, at Franklin street, near Townsend street, Eighth ward, for $4,200.

Bartlett street: Charles A. Fagan sold to George W. Rourke, a lot, 80x120 feet, on the north side of Bartlett street, near Shady avenue, Twenty-second ward, for $3,750.

Center avenue: George K. Stevenson sold to M. Diebold and George J. Vetter, an improved lot, 50x150 feet, on the north side of Center avenue, near Roup street, Twentieth ward, for $7,850.

Jancey street: William J. Steen sold to A. L. Diehl, a lot, 100x100 feet, on the northwest corner of Jancey street and Hampton avenue, Eighteenth ward, for $3,500.

Perry street: William B. Warden sold to James B. Phillips an improved lot, 20x63 feet, on the west side of Perry street, Thirteenth ward, for $1,650.

Pittsburgh building permits were issued as follows: J. F. Ayer, for a two-story frame and attic dwelling at 404 Simms street, Thirty-second ward, to cost $1,800; to Ida C. Aiken, for a two-story brick veneered dwelling at Black and Fairmont streets, Nineteenth ward, to cost $2,305; to S. S. Marvin, for a six-story brick factory at Center avenue and College street, to cost $70,000.

OFFICER WENT ROUGH SHOD AFTER BATTLING SLAVS

Policeman John Cotter of Homestead, was badly beaten while trying to quell a riot Sunday night, but he made a reputation for himself for bravery. A fight started among 20 Slavs at the home of Andy Purday, Hebel street, and Cotter invaded the house. A number of the men attacked him, but the swish of his mace was so regular that three lay unconscious on the floor, and others bore the marks of the battle before the Slavs fled. In addition to those knocked unconscious, Cotter captured three others. The valiant officer was injured about the face and body, but a doctor was needed for his victims.

Another Well Due in Butler Field; Old Gusher Starts Flowing Again

There have been no new wells drilled in west of Butler since last week. The Southern Oil Company is due to get the sand at any time on the Hartung lease, 500 feet southwest of the McBride gusher. The same company's No. 2 on the O. K. Waldron farm is down to 20 barrels an hour, and No. 1, which stopped flowing last week, has had its casing tightened and it was reported to have started flowing again. During the week there will be three or four wells drilled into the sand, and some are important as to location. The Southern's well now due on the Hartung lease should be a producer, as the Brightwood, Allegheny county, S. D. Robinson has drilled his No. 1 on the W. A. Sipe farm through the 100-foot and fourth sands, and has a duster in both. It is now drilling to the fifth sand.

The Yellow Creek district, in Calhoun county, furnished most of the completions in the lower southwest in that district the Carter Oil Company has completed its well No. 2 on the L. G. Fluharty farm and it produced 60 barrels the first 24 hours after being drilled through the Berea grit. The South Penn Oil Company has drilled its second test on the M. A. Wilson farm through the Berea grit and has a show for a 50 barrel producer. This location is 700 feet northeast of the first test drilled on the farm. The same company has drilled its No. 1 on the Jane L. Norman farm through the Berea grit and has a show for a producer good for more than 100 barrels a day. The Guaranty Oil Company has drilled its test on the W. W. Knight farm through the Berea grit and will have a 50-barrel producer. Upham & Ralston have completed No. 2 on the S. Ayers farm and have a show for a 25-barrel producer. On the Maxon sand the same company's No. 2 on the M. Knight farm is good for 10 barrels a day. The Carter Oil Company has drilled its No. 2 on the J. E. Snyder farm through the salt sand and has a show for a good producer. The South Penn company has completed its No. 1 on the Martin Camden farm and has a light pumper in the Maxon sand.

West of Mannington, Marion county, the Freehold Oil & Gas Company's No. 3 on the Benjamin Grubb farm is holding up at 225 barrels a day. No. 1 on the same farm is producing 100 barrels a day. The Delmar Oil Company's No. 1 on the J. & J. Hart farm is holding up at 120 barrels. In the Littleton district the South Penn Oil Company's No. 10 on the S. Newman farm is producing 100 barrels a day. On Konchloy creek, Harrison county, the Hope Natural Gas Co. & Bennett have shot their No. 5 on the J. A. White farm and will have a 25-barrel producer. This is better than the showing when first drilled through the fifth sand.

In the Burning Springs district, Wirt county, the Trio Oil Company has completed its No. 10 on the Wheaton farm and has a show for a small pumper in the first Cow Run sand, at a depth of 281 feet. In the same district the Niagara Oil Company has drilled its No. 14 on the Rathbone oil tract through the same formation and has the same kind of a producer in the first Cow Run sand at a depth of 260 feet. Near Elizabeth, Ritchie county, C. E. Gerwig's No. 3 on the James McKay farm has declined to 65 barrels a day.

On Salem Fork Ten-Mile district, Harrison county, the Greer Oil Company has completed its test on the Strother-Jones lot and has a duster in the Gordon. Near Wick, Meade district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company has drilled its No. 4 on the H. C. Watson farm into the Big Injun pay and has a show for a 100-barrel producer or better. In the Pine Grove extension the South Penn Oil Company's No. 2 on the A. C. Morris farm is producing 60 barrels a day from the straw.

On the Ohio side, in the Wolf Creek district, Washington county, the Cattaragus Oil Company has completed its No. 5 on the Z. F. White farm and has a show for a very light pumper. In the Rays Run district, in the same county, the Associated Producers' company has drilled its test on the L. Steinhoff farm through the Berea grit and found that formation barren. In the New Matamoras district, Monroe county, the Camden Oil Company has drilled its No. 1 on the Charles A. Campbell farm through the Gordon sand and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper. In the same district the Monroe Oil Company has drilled its test on the G. A. Shapley farm through the same sand and has a show for the same kind of a producer.

COMMITS HARI-KARI WITH TABLE SPOON

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—With a large tablespoon as a weapon, Michael Czirilla, aged 34 years, whose trial for homicide was to begin today, hacked himself to pieces in his cell at the county prison. The prisoner sharpened the spoon in the wall of his cell, then gashed himself fearfully, severed the arteries in both wrists, and attempted to disembowel himself. He was found dead by a keeper.

Will Dedicate Pythian Home.

SPRINGFIELD, O., June 12.—Grand lodge officers and prominent Pythians began arriving today to attend the Grand lodge meeting and the dedication of the Pythian home. Among the early arrivals are: Grand Chancellor J. D. Clark of Dayton; Charles B. Doty and Ivor Hughes of Columbus, and Past Supreme Chancellor Walter B. Ritchie of Lima. The Rathbone sisters and Pythian sisters will hold their convention here this week.

Railroad News.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie is having plans prepared for the erection of a number of water softener plants along the Youghiogheny and Monongahela divisions. The plant installed at McKees Rocks has proved satisfactory, and since the engines have been using the purified water they have been kept in commission twice as long as when the water direct from the river was used. The company intends erecting plants at Deaton, West Newton and New Haven on the Youghiogheny division and one each at Glassport, Monesaen and Fayette City on the Monongahela division. These plants will be used for supplying through trains. The local engines will continue to use the present water supply system. The improvement will cost about $25,000.

Leave for Convention.

D. J. Redding, master mechanic of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, and J. D. Conway, chief clerk to L. H. Turner of the same road, will leave today for Manhattan Beach to attend the annual convention of the Master Car Builders, to be held June 14, 15, 16 and 17. Mr. Conway will attend in the capacity of vice chairman of the National Society of Railway Club Secretaries, he being secretary of the Railway club of Pittsburgh.

Studying Local Terminals.

A. S. Howells, city passenger agent of the Toledo, Peoria & Western, with headquarters in Peoria, is in Pittsburgh securing information relative to the various lines with which his road does business. Mr. Howells says his road handles much business originating in this territory, and he desires to become better acquainted with the railroad officials.

Reduces Running Time.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is arranging to shorten the running time of the St. Louis limited. With the new schedule it will leave New York at 10:55 instead of 9:35, arrive in Pittsburgh at 9:35 instead of 9:45 and arrive at St. Louis at 1:20 p. m., the same as at present. Other trains are also to have their schedules shortened.

Passenger Travel Heavy.

The railroads in this territory are handling a bigger passenger business than ever before. The passenger agents say the bookings to lake points are about 30 per cent in excess of last year, and inquiries are coming in daily for rates. A large number of fishing clubs intend camping in Canada this year.

Railroad Notes.

The three local lines running east are figuring on dates for the Atlantic City excursions. The Pennsylvania Lines only run two each season, while the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore & Ohio run seven.

The immigrant travel over the Baltimore & Ohio and the Pennsylvania promises to beat all past records this month.

BOOKKEEPER IMPLICATED.

Said to Have Borrowed Book on Use of Dynamite Before His Employers' Bank Was Blown Up.

PARIS, ILL., June 12.—The grand jury investigating into the dynamiting of the Edgar County bank, will begin tomorrow. Members of the hardware firm occupying the store under the lodgings of the bank's bookkeeper, W. W. Juntgen, have admitted that he borrowed from them a book of instructions on the use of dynamite; also that the elevator to which Juntgen had access from his apartments, was used the following night. Policeman Bates says he saw Juntgen on the public square at 2:30 o'clock on the morning of the explosion. The bookkeeper persists that he was not out of his room after 10 o'clock, p. m.

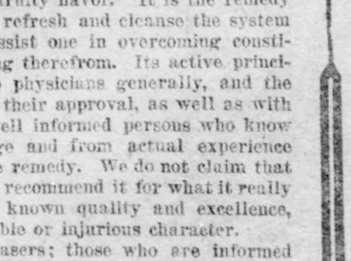
President Parrish, of the wrecked bank, was asked today if Juntgen had resigned, and replied: "I suppose so; it would be impossible to take him back under the circumstances." Juntgen said he had not resigned, and did not intend to do so.

Young Man Kills Himself.

UNIONTOWN, June 12.—(Special.)—Thomas Burkholder, aged 21 years, is dead at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Burkholder, at Hopwood, from a self-inflicted pistol wound. He had complained of pains in the head, and it is believed his mind was temporarily affected. He was a member of the Protestant Episcopal church, McKeesport.

Cashier Goll Pleads Not Guilty.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., June 12.—Henry Goll, former assistant cashier of the First National bank of Milwaukee, today pleaded not guilty to an indictment containing 13 counts. United States District Judge Quarles fixed bail at $20,000, which Goll furnished. The counts contained in the Bigelow indictment are practically repeated in Goll's case.



THE LAXATIVE OF KNOWN QUALITY

There are two classes of remedies; those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown, uncertain and inferior character, acting temporarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that it will cure all manner of ills, but recommend it for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality and excellence, containing nothing of an objectionable or injurious character.

There are two classes of purchasers; those who are informed as to the quality of what they buy and the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation of any well known article; but, unfortunately, there are some people who do not know, and who allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect its beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy.

To the credit of the druggists of the United States be it said that nearly all of them value their reputation for professional integrity and the good will of their customers too highly to offer imitations of the manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., and in order to buy the genuine article and to get its beneficial effects, one has only to note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package. Price, 50c. per bottle. One size only.

IRON AND STEEL STOCKS STRONGER THAN RAILROADS

U. S. Steel Issues Closed at the Best—Copper and Smelting Closed Lower—Crucible Preferred Advanced on the Local Board.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

At the opening of the New York stock market yesterday the advance of Saturday was not continued. On the contrary, selling predominated and prices averaged about 1 per cent lower, the strongest pressure being against Amalgamated Copper and Union Pacific. Then ensued a period of dullness, followed by a renewal of a fair degree of activity and an advance to the highest prices of the day, the close being firm.

The London stock exchange was closed for a holiday, and most of the continental markets suspended business for the same reason and Wall street was therefore without the guide of foreign quotations as to sentiment regarding the progress of negotiations toward peace. The hesitation displayed was ascribed to rumors of a hitch in the movement to bring Russia and Japan together to discuss terms of peace, but later in the day these rumors were pronounced unfounded, and prices recovered. This is now the only matter, aside from the crops, which has a bearing upon the immediate future of the market, the Equitable Life affair having been at least temporarily removed as a factor. The general opinion seems to be that an early declaration of peace would have a bullish effect, but if it involves large issues of foreign government bonds, the latter will come into competition with securities already in the market and to that extent would absorb investment funds that would be available for securities already issued.

The iron and steel stocks were relatively stronger than the railroads and closed higher. United States Steel common and preferred scored net gains of ⅝ per cent and closed at the best. Colorado Fuel and Iron closed ¾ higher and Tennessee Coal and Iron 1¼ per cent higher. Amalgamated Copper was active and weak and closed at a net loss of ⅛ per cent. American Smelting common closed 1 per cent lower.

Metropolitan Street Railway and Metropolitan Securities were strong and closed 1 to 1¼ per cent higher for the day. The movement was due entirely to the inferences drawn from the new control of the Equitable Life, the syndicate purchasing the latter having interest in traction affairs. Brooklyn Rapid Transit rallied to 65¾, but lost the advance and closed ¾ per cent lower.

In the railroad list prices were irregular and net changes small, but the average was slightly higher. The early strength in wheat, based upon the showing made in Saturday's government crop report and the extensive damage reported in the Mississippi and Missouri valleys, had the effect of checking purchases of granger stocks and exerted a sympathetic influence upon other railroad issues not directly affected by the crops. The action of the Wabash directors in again passing the interest on the debenture "A" bonds did not have any marked effect upon the securities of this company.

The money market remained easy, call loans declining to 2 per cent and the final loan being at 2¼ per cent. The possibility of disturbance in the money market over the semi-annual settlement period was removed by the action of the secretary of the treasury in extending from July 1 to the 15th the time for the payment of $12,000,000 government deposits which have been called.

Commodity markets were active and irregular. Cotton closed at the lowest. Wheat closed slightly lower after a strong advance in the early dealings, while corn closed fractionally higher.

In the local market the principal activity was in the steel stocks, which ruled strong, despite the report of a slight reduction in pig iron. United States Steel common was in good demand, advancing to and closing at 28⅝. The preferred was dull but strong, rallying to 95. Crucible Steel common sold to the extent of only 15 shares at 10, but the preferred was moderately active and strong, advancing to 81⅝. National Fire Proofing common closed unchanged at 9¾, and the preferred at 54¾. There were no transactions in Pittsburgh Oil and Gas, which closed at 65 bid, 68½ asked. Manufacturers Light and Heat was slightly lower, closing at 35 bid. Philadelphia Company common sold at 43 and closed offered at that price. Westinghouse Air Brake declined to 144, while Electric advanced to 85½, closing at 83¾ bid. Brewing securities were dull but firm. Independent Brewing bonds sold to the extent of $14,500 at 107, unchanged from the last previous sale.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The annual meeting of the Westinghouse Airbrake Company, Limited, was held in London on Friday, June 9, 1905, and copies of the report were received by local stockholders yesterday. The report states that after providing for all working expenses and making full provision for depreciation, the net profits, including £12,262 18s 1d brought forward, amounted to £102,773 1s 3d. This sum includes the dividend received from the Russian company for the year ending December 31, 1903, and is an increase of £28,375 over net profits for 1903. The report states: "After transferring £10,000 to reserve account there remains a balance of £92,773 1s 3d. In July last a dividend was paid for the first six months of the year at the rate of 10 per cent per annum, amounting to £10,864, leaving a balance of £73,909 1s 3d. Of this balance the directors have distributed for the second half of the year a further dividend at the rate of 20 per cent per annum and a bonus of 5 per cent, making a total distribution of 30 per cent for the year and leaving £12,917 1s 3d to be carried to the new profit and loss account." In the balance sheet the item of "Patents, licenses and good will" has been increased by the sum of $25,000, which amount was paid to acquire the European rights to manufacture the Morse chain, for which additional shops and machinery have been provided. The report says: "With reference to the Societe Anonyme Westinghouse, Paris, the directors beg to say that in lieu of the proposed issue of debentures by the societe referred to in the report of last year, it has been found by that societe desirable to issue cumulative preference shares bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, and this company has agreed to accept such preference shares at par for 650,000f, advanced to and guaranteed for the societe." The Pittsburgh company owns a controlling interest in the London company.

Edmund C. Lockwood reports that the gross earnings of the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Greensburg Railway Company for the month of May, 1905, were $16,616 26, an increase of $2,203 34, or 15.5 per cent. The material for the new extension of the line connecting with the Pittsburgh City Railway Company is being rapidly delivered and the new line will be in operation shortly.

Charles G. Wahl has been elected a director of the Workingmans Savings Bank and Trust Company to fill the vacancy caused by the death of L. Bierkle. Mr. Wahl is secretary-treasurer of the company and has been with the institution for the past 22 years, filling every position from messenger to the one he now holds.

Small sales were recorded yesterday in Bank of Pittsburgh, Industrial National and Merchants Savings and Trust, all at unchanged prices.

Union Bag and Paper Company directors have declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on preferred stock, payable July 15.

The directors of the American Can Company have declared a quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the preferred stock, payable July 1 to stockholders of record June 20.

A decision just rendered by the appellate division of the supreme court of New York holds that a stockholder in any company is entitled to inspect the stock book of the company, even if his only purpose in doing so is to discover the names of the other stockholders and make a list of them for business purposes. The decision reverses an order made by Supreme Court Justice McCall, refusing to grant to Joseph W. Large, a broker, a mandamus directing the Consolidated National bank of New York city to allow him to inspect the stock book and make a copy of any entries in it he might care to note down. Large is a holder of a small amount of stock in the bank, and he admitted, according to the bank officials, that his only purpose in examining the stock book was to obtain a list of the shareholders, so that he might trade in the stock. The bank declined to allow him to use the book for such purpose. Justice Hatch says that a peremptory writ allowing Large to make any copies he pleases of the stock book entries must be granted. This decision will be appealed, as it affects all corporations in which a knowledge of the list of stockholders would help a broker to trade in the stock.

A Chicago dispatch says: "Trading on Chicago stock exchange in stocks that have transfer offices in New York will be subject to the stock transfer tax. The question has come up on Subway and Quaker Oats."

The output of 416,285 ounces of gold in the Transvaal during the month of May is a record monthly production since the war in 1836. The largest production on record was reached in August, 1899, when the figures were 459,709 ounces. This fell off in September of 1899 to 411,762 ounces, and on the outbreak of the war in October to 36,904 ounces. Figures for the month just passed indicate a very near approach to the record figures of 1899. As compared with April, the output of May shows an increase of 17,423 ounces, and compared with May, 1904, shows an increase of 101,915 ounces.

Gross earnings of Missouri Pacific for the first week in June increased $43,000. Texas Pacific increased $12,235, and Wabash increased $12,470.

For April gross earnings of Chicago Great Western decreased $16,211 and net increased $19,677.

Gross earnings of Northern Pacific for May were $4,403,244, an increase of $587,130.

Railroad gross earnings in May on 53 railroads reporting to the Financial Chronicle were $48,367,104, an increase of $3,823,386, or 8.58 per cent as compared with last year. For the year to date 51 roads report an increase of $14,198,976 or 6.49 per cent.

Gross earnings of Illinois Central for May were $4,642,222, a decrease of $158,840.

Gross earnings of Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh for the first week in June increased $3,333.

Gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for the first week in June increased $31,830. Central of Georgia increased $17,700.

The Philadelphia market was weak, owing to the new agitation started regarding the franchises recently given the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company.

The directors of the Wabash Railroad Company yesterday decided not to make any distribution on the debenture "A" bonds at this time. This was the regular meeting for taking action on this question. The "A" bonds are an income security and interest is payable only as earned and when the funds are not needed for improvements. From 1890 to 1893 the full 6 per cent interest was paid. During the next two years the interest was passed. In 1896 1 per cent was paid, while from 1897 to 1899 inclusive, no distribution was made. From 1900 to 1904 the full 6 per cent declaration was renewed. Of course, inasmuch as a dividend was not declared on the "A" bonds at yesterday's meeting, nothing could be declared on the "B" bonds. The latter closed at 74, the same as on Saturday.

The sales of municipal bonds in May aggregated $16,321,283, which was above the average. Last year the aggregate was $55,010,116 in May, but New York city made an issue of $37,000,000 in that month. In May, 1903, the total was $15,848,267, in 1902 $20,556,441 and in May, 1901, $14,552,340, which later amount was the largest up to the time for many years. The sales of municipal bonds for the calendar year to date have been $94,483,237, an amount exceeded only in 1904.

The Metropolitan stocks owed their strength to inferences from the new auspices of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. Discussion of that subject was less optimistic than on Saturday and it was urged that the forthcoming report of the state superintendent of insurance must be awaited to form a definite judgment on the new plan. There was much conjecture also touching the identity of the syndicate to which the Equitable stock had been conveyed.

FLOUR IS SHAKY AND OTHER PRODUCTS DOWN

Potatoes Make an Unexpected Advance and May Remain at Higher Figure.

Owing to a scarcity of old potatoes, due largely to the fact that farmers have quit hauling them to gathering points because of the low price, the tubers advanced sharply in the local market this week. Dealers say that from now on they will bring a better price than they have for a month or more, until they are finally forced out entirely by the arrival of new potatoes. The new potatoes are steadily coming down in price, and can now be had at $2 and $2.25 a barrel. Considering the waste in old ones it is claimed the prices are now almost even, and lower figures may be looked for in a short time.

Flour held its own yesterday, but a drop will not cause much surprise to local dealers today. Some shading is being done from present quotations, but it is not general, and the full quotations are usually obtained.

Green goods ruled excellent day yesterday, good business being done all along the street. A number of changes were made in quotations, and nearly all of them were toward lower prices. The market is well stocked with the latest of everything, and Pittsburgh people today have no reason not to be living well.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts of hay and grain were: Pennsylvania lines—52 hay, 174 oats, 4½ straw, 11 corn, 1 feed. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie—4 oats, 1 hay, 1 feed. Baltimore & Ohio—7 hay, 1 oats, 2 straw.

Hay receipts are very heavy. No. 1 timothy is firm at prices quoted, but lower grades are dull. Oats continue in fair demand, also shelled corn, but car is lower, owing to heavy receipts. Millfeed is scarce and active. The annual meeting of the Hay and Grain exchange will be held this morning at 11 to elect 13 directors for the ensuing year.

GOVERNMENT REPORT IS BEARISH IN EFFECT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 12.—The government report, showing a large increase in acreage seeded to spring wheat, had a bearish effect on the wheat market here today. At the close July wheat was off ¼c. Corn is up ½c. Oats are down ¼@¾c. Provisions are 2½c to 10c higher.

The greatest weakness in the wheat market was manifested at the opening. Under general selling by pit traders initial quotations on July were off ¾c to ⅞c at 86@86¼c. The main factor contributing to the depression was the showing of the government report in relation to the crop of spring-sown wheat. According to official statistics the acreage of spring wheat is considerably increased over that of last year. In addition the condition is given at 98.7. Many traders considered that the bright prospects for a liberal yield of spring wheat more than offset the loss in condition of the fall-sown crop. Rumors of exports from Russia gave the bears an additional stimulus in the decline. There, however, shorts were eager buyers, and in their haste to cover prices were forced rapidly upward. After touching 85¾c, shortly after the opening, July advanced to 87¼@88¼c before the middle of the session. Small primary receipts had a strengthening effect on the market. A decrease of 1,838,000 bushels in the visible supply was another influence that aided the upturn. On the advance a number of early buyers turned sellers and the market eased off. The close was slightly under Saturday's final quotations, with July at 86¾@87c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 386,200 bushels. The amount on passage increased 324,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 398,800 bushels, compared with 420,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 312 cars, against 322 cars last week and 244 cars a year ago. Sympathy with the weakness of wheat the corn market was somewhat easier early in the session. Increased receipts gave bears an additional reason for selling at the start. Sentiment, however, soon changed on active buying by a number of prominent commission houses. Throughout the remainder of the day a strong tone prevailed. A decrease of 1,150,000 bushels in the visible supply, compared with an increase of 366,000 bushels last year, was a bullish factor. Floods in Iowa were a further bullish influence. July opened ¾c to ⅞c lower at 51½@51¾c, sold between 51¼c and 51¾c and closed at 51¾c. Local receipts were 408 cars, with 118 of contract grade.

Extremely heavy receipts created weakness in the oats market. Arrivals today were nearly double the amount estimated. The government report indicating an increase of 5,000,000 bushels in the total yield, was compared with last year's. This was another weakening influence. The volume of trading was quite large. July opened a shade to ¼c lower at 31¾@31¼c to 31¾c, sold between 31½@31c and 31¾c and closed at 31c. Local receipts were 218 cars.

Provisions were firm on a moderate demand from shorts. Strength of corn had considerable influence. At the close September pork was up 10c at $12.92½. Lard was up 2½@5c at $7.45 @7.47½. Ribs were 7½c higher at $7.67½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 6 cars; corn, 358 cars; oats, 327 cars; hogs, 22,000 head.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A Bisbee, Ariz., letter says:

The Pittsburgh's two shafts, Briggs and Hoafson, are both sinking rapidly, the former being now 1,060 and the latter 130 feet deep. There is a slight diminution of water at Briggs and the close connection between it and Junction shaft, 3,000 feet away, is now demonstrated sufficiently to prove that the latter will be taking more and more of the water of the great basin with every foot of depth. Pittsburgh has for two years been pumping all the water of the Warren district.

The Arizona Mine and Development Co. is to erect a 20-stamp mill on its property just across the Sonora line, with Charles McHenry in charge. The last shipment of selected ore from this property returned $68 a ton.

Wolverine has been running a drift toward the center of the camp for the past 90 days and has now gone more than 500 feet, or about 300 feet per month, which is considered wonderful progress. This drift is in a cupriferous limestone, and is favorable, but no ore has yet been cut. It is to be driven several hundred feet farther. It heads in a direct line for Czar shaft of the Copper Queen, 3,000 feet distant.

In the Huachuca mountains, west of Bisbee, nothing is doing but the work of the Consolidated and the Mitchell Development. The latter is a Northern Michigan company which was about to quit, but secured new options and will go on. It has ten men at work and will sink and drift. The Consolidated is putting in a five-stamp gold mill, and expects to pay its way henceforth. Many prospectors owning claims in the district are waiting for the two companies to make a showing.

The Cunningham group, which becomes a portion of the Warren development, has been bought for cash, and $125,000 has been paid over. This was formerly explored by the Cochise Development company, which failed and lost the property. Its bond was for a considerably less sum. The Warren has called $500,000, all of which has been paid in, and the company will soon be at work. Its chances are very good, and as it has the only practicable site for a city in this valley it will become the location for Bisbee.

The Iron Cap mine, near Globe, is to be sold to parties from Salem, Mass. The company is to be reorganized, and the new owners receive 65,000 shares for $40,000 which they are to put into the treasury. The claim is the line between two portions of the mines of the Arizona Commercial Copper company, and are developed by it to some extent.

The Savage Mining company of Paradise has ordered and is receiving a 50-ton mattle smelter for work at its mine in the Chiricahuas. This mine is situated nine miles north of Rodeo. At the Cochise Consolidated, nearby, the machinery for a concentrating mill has been ordered and the mine forces increased to 40 men. The Chiricahua Development company is sinking in ore, and now has a depth of 200 feet.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, June 12.—It being a holiday in the English markets, no cables were received, and the local market ruled generally quiet. Tin was a little more firmly held, but continued quiet at $30.00@30.25. The copper situation shows no change. Lake and Electrolytic are quoted at $16.00 and castings at $16.75. Lead ruled quiet, easily at $4.40@4.60 and spelter unchanged at $5.35.

Iron continues unsettled, with the tone easy and prices on northern grades generally lower, although some dealers are still asking recent quotations. No. 1 foundry, northern, is quoted at $19.50@17.00; No. 2 foundry, northern, at $18.00@16.50; No. 1 foundry, southern, at $16.25@16.75; No. 1 foundry southern, soft, at $16.25@17.00; No. 2 foundry, southern, at $15.75@16.25.

BOSTON, June 12.—The market opened a little weak this morning, owing to pressure on A. C. P., which sold off 1¾ from Saturday's close. Lawson was out with an advertisement on this stock and the Equitable matter. The whole list became stronger later on and continued so up to the close. There appeared to be good buying of Steel common throughout the day. Greene Copper was weak, selling down to 21, but with no news to account for it. New York seemed to be the seller on the Boston market.

CAPIAS RECALLS A STRANGE DEATH

South Side Embalmer Asks $10,000 from One He Says Made Serious Allegations.

JOHN HURLEY IS ACQUITTED

A capias was issued yesterday for the arrest of Martin Fifer, against whom a suit for $10,000 damages was entered by Andrew Drewicick, an embalmer, of 1608 Carson street. The plaintiff claims that Fifer, in the presence of others, accused him and one Frank Kasprowick of killing Kashmer Fifer, and also of robbing him. Fifer is also alleged to have ruined the plaintiff's business by making statements that a 'Crawfordick knew nothing about embalming, and would not be allowed to embalm all Fifer's dog.

John Hurley of Braddock was acquitted in criminal court on a charge of burglary made by County Detective Robinson. Hurley was accused of robbing the residence of Cornelius McNeil, in Harriett street, Braddock, last March. He was tried during the March term of court, but the jury disagreed. Hurley proved a strong alibi by showing that he was working in a mill at the time the McNeil home was entered. Attorney Joseph F. Mayhugh represented him.

George Cyril was convicted of entering the store of Johnston & Smith, Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg, and stealing $120. Julius Krautman and George Arndt entered pleas of guilty of entering the store of L. A. Weaver in the East End, and with stealing tools from H. J. Yule, John W. Bilty and Alvis Bagar. Albert Hecker and Oscar Kleiners, indicted with Krautman and Arndt on several of the informations, elected to stand trial.

Judge Buffington in the United States circuit court handed down an opinion dismissing the bill in equity filed by Pettibone, Milliken & Co. against the Verona Tool Company. Damages were asked for an alleged infringement on a patent nail-bending machine. The court finds a set of rollers was added to the machine now in general use, for the purpose of giving mobility, and do not affect the machine's work so are not patentable, and hence there is no infringement.

Bernard E. Aarons, a Smithfield street jeweler, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States district court. His liabilities are $5,234.23 and his assets $3,246.19. There are over 100 creditors, mostly for small amounts. The largest amount is $2,500 owed for rent.

Three petitions in involuntary bankruptcy were also filed. One against August Timm, a grocer, of Allegheny, by the Pittsburgh Milling Company, Joseph Semple, Curll & Co., and E. H. Voskamp Sons Co., with claims of $910; another against Willim C. Wills, a shoe dealer, of Pittsburgh, by Laird & Taylor and others, with claims of $521, and the third against the Columbia Drilling Manufacturing Company, the petitioners Armitage Bros. and J. G. McKean & Sons, whose claims aggregate $182.

H. A. Leppe has filed an answer to the bill in equity filed against him by the Central Trust Company, of which he was formerly the president. He denies that the trust company is entitled to certain leases or an accounting of rental received by him to the property in question. Mr. Lappe says he leased the property and then proposed that the company take the property as its business home, which it refused to do. He denies that he acted as an agent for the company.

David Signal has been sued by the Congregation of the Tree of Life (Etz Chayim), who seek to collect from him dues for the year 1900, amounting to $40 and $4 dues for offerings for prayers.

J. J. Brophy entered suit against the Mineral Hill Consolidated Copper Company, asking $10,000 damages. He avers he was given a certificate for 10,000 shares of the company's stock by J. Clay Martin for services rendered, but that the officers refused to transfer the stock to his name.

True bills were returned by the grand jury as follows: Forgery, Stany Kowash; larceny, Daniel Connors, Michael MacDock, William Tyson, Nicholas Kondra, James Spring, Joseph Powell; larceny by bailee, Edward Walker; assault and battery, John H. Chatam, Albert Witmer, Joseph W. Haney; felonious assault, Raymond Williams; embezzlement, Robert M. Enrich, James Stack; selling liquor illegally, Laura Simpson, Mary Smith, Hattie Williams; keeping a disorderly house, John Dolls, Mary Smith; misdemeanor, Lee Tun, James E. Blenz (2), Marshall Ruff, Mary Smith.

PROTEST TO BIGELOW.

Thirty-Eight Ward Citizens Demand Street Be Refilled—Grade Cut Down.

A delegation of citizens from the Thirty-eighth ward, headed by Select Councilman Frederick Fichtel and Common Councilman Andrew Pfannkuch, called upon Director Bigelow yesterday afternoon to enter a protest against the regrading of Curtin avenue. The delegation was composed of property owners from that avenue. They told the director they were astonished the other day to see city engineers superintending workmen lowering the grade of the avenue 3 inches.

They claimed this would damage their property, because it would put the property above the new grade of the street. A demand was made that the street be refilled, and the old grade established. The director consented. The work done by the city must now be undone and the street placed in its former condition.

TREASURY CALL POSTPONED.

Second Installment from Depository Banks Will Not Be Required Until July 15.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The secretary of the treasury today announced that the payment of the second installment of the public deposits called from depository banks will not be required on July 1, the date named in the call, but may be made by the banks at any time on or before July 15.

The purpose of this change in the date of payment is to separate the transfer of funds of the treasury from the heavy payments of dividends and interest falling due on the first of July. The unpaid portion of the second installment to be paid by the banks to the treasury is about $12,000,000.

CONVICT BIGELOW IS IN PRISON HOSPITAL

FORT LEAVENWORTH, June 12.—Frank G. Bigelow, the former Milwaukee banker, who was brought here last night to begin his 10-year sentence in the Federal prison, is in the hospital. His nervous condition is such that Dr. Thomas, under whose care he is, fears a general physical breakdown. After Bigelow had been photographed early today his condition was found to be such that it was decided not to undergo the other requirements until later. Bigelow uttered no word of complaint.
